The Canyon News

Fifty-Seventh Year | Canyon, Texas Wednesday, December 3, 1952 | Number 34

The Southwestern Public Service Company is returning Miss Brannen and Miss Carver to Canyon for this school. They presented the school last year and made a decided hit with the large number of women who attended the School. Miss Brannen was a former student of West Texas State College, and Miss Carver is a niece of Joe Carver of this city. Both have had wide experience in presenting Cooking Schools.

Daily attendance prizes are being offered by local business houses. These prizes are of great value to those who are lucky in winning one of them.

Comfortable chairs are being provided for all who will attend the School.

Local food stores will furnish the groceries and meats which will be used for demonstration purposes and will be given as attendance prizes at the end of the Cooking School.

The program will be entirely different from the program which was put on last year, and which delighted more than 300 women each day. All women of Randall county are cordially invited to attend the School.

Women Will Take Over . . .

Miss Fern Brannen, former WT student, will preside at the Cooking School to be held Friday and Saturday at the American Legion Hall, 2 until 4 o'clock.

Miss Fern Carver, assistant to Miss Brannen, will be on hand Friday and Saturday for the Cooking School which will be held at the American Legion Hall.

Snow Moisture Is Not As Much As First Expected

County Agent John Brazzil said Monday that the eight inches of snow we received could do more harm than good if we do not get additional soon. The snow blew and drifted in such fashion as to prevent the maximum benefit from it being derived.

Brazzil said the snow remained fairly well on the ground that had stubble or a cover crop. Where there was no cover the snow blew off the ground leaving only a trace of moisture.

It the eight inches of snow had lain where it fell it would have amounted for a blanket of .81 inches of moisture. Where it blew off leaving only a trace of moisture the wheat may come up in spots and if additional moisture does not come soon there is danger of the wheat dying.

"The fact remains," the county agent pointed out, "that we did not get as much moisture or as much good from the snow as first believed." Most wheat farmers agree that in many places there is not enough moisture to bring the wheat up.

It was not until Monday that the "all clear signal" was given for traffic on the paved highways. Up to that time there was a large amount of ice and snow in the low places where the drifts held snow banks from six to eight feet deep.

The schools in Canyon did not close, but there were no school busses running until the all clear signal was given Monday morning.

Rotary Ann Dinner To Be Held Tuesday Night at Church

There will be no luncheon of the Canyon Rotary Club next Tuesday noon, as the Rotary Ann Christmas dinner will be held Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

Dr. E. J. Carnell of Pasadena, Calif., spoke Tuesday at the weekly luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson of Floydada have provided the series of lectures which are given each winter. Dr. Carnell spoke at the Lions Club today and at the Methodist Church Tuesday night. He closes his three day series at the college Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Carnell chose as the basis of his talk John 16:6. He took as his text the declaration of Christ, "I am the truth."

He traced the three kinds of truth which may be supposed in this declaration the antological truth; the propositional truth; and truth as a personal rectitude.

No philosopher has dared to say that he was the truth. Every parent would rather say that his son was a "good boy" than to be the greatest scholar of his time. When a man dies the greatest tribute that may be paid to his memory is that "He was the best man I knew."

Visitors were G. F. Roberts of Sharon, Tenn.; Lt. Jim McElroy, John E. Hill, both of Amarillo; Ted Reid of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Willson of Floydada.

Lewis Stoelzing announced that the College Orchestra would give a program at the Methodist Church next Monday evening.

NEW CLUB RECEIVES CHARTER

The Palo Duro Mother-in-Law Club will meet December 11 at 2:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Fred Marshall for the Christmas party. There will be a Christmas program and an exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Agnes Peterson of Amarillo, president of the national association, will be present the charter to the new club.

COMPLETES OFFICIAL VISITS

Mrs. H. E. Campfield concluded her official visits to the American Legion Auxiliary District meetings when she met with the 18th District convention in Hereford last week. Mr. Campfield accompanied her to the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cofer and daughters, Susan and Connie, have returned to their home at Pasadena after having spent the Thanksgiving holidays in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cofer.

W. H. Hamblen Died Tuesday at Age 76 Years

W. H. HAMBLEN

William Henry Harrison Hamblen, 76, died Tuesday morning at the Neblett Hospital where he has been under treatment since a fall on the icy street last week.

The funeral will be held in Wayside Thursday afternoon where he was a pioneer settler. The family has lived in Canyon for the past eight years.

Mr. Hamblen was born March 12, 1876, in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

He moved to the Wayside community in 1901, was the leader in building a road from Wayside, across Palo Duro Canyon to Claude. The Claude crossing road also is known as the Hamblen Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamblen celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary two years ago.

He was a charter member of the Wayside Baptist Church, which was founded in 1908, and had been a deacon of the church for 44 years. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors are his wife, of Canyon; six daughters, Mrs. Nellie Burrows, North Hollywood, Calif., Mrs. Doris Gilliham, Mrs. Ida May Rogers, and Mrs. Osce Parsons, all of Canyon, Mrs. Viola Ward, Nipoma, Calif., and Mrs. Ramona Fuller, Chicopee Falls, Mass.; three sons, Alfred, Canyon, and H. T. and Oleff M. Hamblen, both of Wayside.

He also is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Mattie Brady, Elmore City, Okla., Mrs. Effie Henson, Phoenix, Mrs. Eunice Hill, Farmersville, Calif., Mrs. Lora Webb, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mittie Clamerford, Amarillo.

First Cash Prizes Given Saturday

About 75 per cent of the eligible business houses are participating in the cash prizes being given on the first three Saturdays in December. These drawings will be held at the band stand east of the court house at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the 6th, 13th, and the 20th.

A total of $750 will be given away with six prizes being given each Saturday. First prize will be $100, second prize is to be $50, and there will be four prizes of $25 each. The winning tickets must be present.

There's to be a grand occasion for the kiddies on Saturday, the 20. This being the final day in which prizes are to be given, there will be special entertainment and candy for the kiddies present.

The entire program of prizes and candy and entertainment for the kiddies is the work of the merchants of the Chamber of Commerce. Gene Davis, manager of M. E. Moses store, is chairman of the merchants committee.

DIED SATURDAY a. m.

H. H. Hunnicutt of Texalo passed away Saturday morning. The deceased is the father of Leland Graves of Canyon and Tommy Graves of Amarillo. Funeral services were held Sunday in the First Baptist Church of Texalo.

LEGION AUXILIARY TO MEET

The American Legion Auxiliary will have its Christmas social Monday evening, December 8, at 7 o'clock. A covered dish supper will be followed by a visit from Santa Claus and an exchange of gifts.

School Board Starts Survey Of New Plant

The school board held a special meeting last night as a study conference on the future needs of the Canyon Independent School District.

Special committees of citizens will be named in the immediate future to make a study of the needs of the school, in conjunction with members of the school board. These studies are necessary in order to start plans toward the construction of a school plant.

As outlined by the board last night, citizens will make studies on the following subjects:

1. Census and enrollment.
2. Projected enrollment.
3. Educational adequacy of curriculum.
4. Survey of present building facilities.
5. Projected needs of the school.
6. Financial resources.

It will be necessary for the school to have additional room to take care of the present public schools on Sept. 1, 1955. This date has been set as the tentative time when the public school must turn back to West Texas State the present education building which is used for the training school.

The school board has bought additional land in the south part of Canyon for the site of a new building when it is determined the size of building which will be needed to take care of the students in the future.

Announcement of the names of the various committees will probably not be available until all have been notified of their selection and duties in conjunction with the building program. Each committee will consist of from 12 to 20 citizens who are interested in the future of the school.

Librarians To Meet Sunday Afternoon in WT Library Building

Librarians of District 1, Texas Library Association, will meet for their regular monthly social gathering Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in the new library building at West Texas State College.

Public, county, and school and college librarians in 44 Panhandle and West Texas counties are expected for the meeting, according to Miss Linnie Babston, acting librarian at West Texas State. The meeting is being held in the new building to give visitors an opportunity to see the $500,000 structure.

Officers of the district association are Miss Ila Pool, Pampa, chairman; Mrs. Effie Jewel Baggett, Amarillo, vice-chairman, and Miss Katherine Boverie, Wellington, secretary-treasurer.

Host and hostesses for the gathering will be Dr. and Mrs. Seymour Connor, Mrs. W. L. Smith, Miss Albessa Stephenson, Miss Wilma Cupell, Miss Bertie May Williams, and Miss Babston.

Miss Grace Weller has returned from a trip to Kansas City and Nevada, Mo., where she visited her aunt and cousins, Mrs. D. E. Woodson and sons.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Neblett and children attended the Texas-A&M football game in Austin Thanksgiving, returning home Sunday.

Mrs. Clifton D. Phillips and daughter returned home Thanksgiving after having visited with relatives in Friona.

Fred Standley, Jr., Appointed to State Post in New Mexico

Fred Standley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Standley, Sr., Clovis attorney, is the first-named of the four assistant attorney-generals to serve for the next two years under newly-elected Richard H. Robinson.

Mr. Standley will move to Santa Fe with his family shortly after Christmas. The new job begins with the new year, when Robinson will take office.

The private law practice of Standley and Lynell Skarda will be maintained in Clovis by Mr. Skarda.

The assistantship is the first state job held by Standley, who was admitted to the bar in New Mexico in mid-1950. A native of Oklahoma, he graduated from Oklahoma City High School. After moving to Canyon he attended West Texas State for two years and took his law training at Salt Lake City, Utah, where he was admitted to the bar in early 1950.

While in Clovis, Mr. Standley has been active in civic affairs. He is president of the Clovis Junior Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Lions Club. He supported Robinson's candidacy in both the primary and general election.

Firemen Have New Truck Some Place on Road

Fire Chief Bill Sternenberg said Monday that the new pick-up truck for the fire department was on its way here but had been delayed some place enroute. He said the new pick-up would be used in carrying sundry articles to the scene of a fire.

The generator for emergency lighting equipment will be mounted on the pick-up and other items such as hats, coats, chemical hand type fire extinguishers, ladders, various connections for hoses, wrenches, tarpaulins, etc.

Sternenberg said these items are now carried on the regular fire-truck and this creates a bit of inconvenience as the fire-truck must be left near a fireplug. When the pick-up is used for hauling this equipment it can be left at the scene of the fire where it is convenient for the firemen to get to it.

The fire chief said the truck was purchased with money from various sources. There was a little in the firemen's kitty; they had some profits from the circus, and there was some money donated for the purchase of the truck.

Imperial Chevrolet Company sold the truck by submitting the lowest bid. The bed of the truck was donated by the Southwestern Public Service Company. The truck was ordered from the factory, but the bed will have to be painted, Sternenberg said.

It has been several weeks since the truck was ordered. The firemen don't know just where it is but they do know it has been delayed enroute from the factory here.

Buffs Lost First Two Games at Albuquerque, N. M.

The Buffaloes opened the season's play against the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque Monday and Tuesday nights.

The score Monday night was 62 to 44 in favor of New Mexico; and Tuesday night, 64-53.

Tax Discount Is Down 1% in Last Month of Year

If you did not get your taxes paid by noon Saturday you must pay 1% more. The discount of 2% until the first of December and then dropped to 1%, applies to state, county, and school taxes which are due for 1952.

Early this week Bill Money, tax assessor and collector, said that a large number of people took advantage of the 3% discount offered in the month of October. In November when the discount was 2% the number of taxpayers was somewhat smaller than in October, he reported.

In December the discount of 1% will decrease the number of taxpayers because most of the taxes have already been paid.

Money said 75% of taxes were paid. This leaves 25% to come in during the month of December. He added that some taxes would remain delinquent, but most of the remainder will come in for the 1% discount offered in December.

Tickets Available For C-C Banquet

Chamber of Commerce members who receive tickets for the annual banquet to be held Thursday, Dec. 11, do not have to use them, according to an announcement Monday. In the event the members do use them they will be billed for the $3 cost of the tickets, but if they do not use them they will not have to pay.

Congressman Walter Rogers will be the speaker for the annual banquet. Those members who have additional guests and need more tickets may obtain them by mailing the card that was sent them and specify the number of tickets they desire.

Those people who are not members of the Chamber of Commerce and desire tickets may get them at the First National Bank, Southwestern Public Service Company, College Bookstore, or the Chamber of Commerce office.

The Chamber of Commerce president for 1953, as well as the new directors, will be announced at the banquet.

Panel Will Study Problems of Youth

Members of the Canyon Parents-Teachers Association study group will meet at the Canyon High School on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 9 and 11.

General topic for discussion will be problems of youth at the high school age in relation to home and school. Dean Mitchell Jones of West Texas State College will be moderator for the panels at each meeting.

Canyon Featured In Trade Journal

"Canyon, Its Past, Its Present, and Its Hopes for the Future" is the subject for the Shamrock's bi-monthly publication for November and December. The 16-page magazine carries more than a dozen pictures of Canyon and the surrounding area. More than half of the pictures are of the museum or of displays in the museum.

The article was written by T. C. Brown, former member of the journalism staff at West Texas State College. Brown spent nearly two weeks in the vicinity of Canyon collecting material for the article.

Two of Canyon's well known tourist attractions were given excellent coverage in the article. They are the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum and Palo Duro Canyon. The accompanying pictures of these two places lent a great deal of vividness to the article.

Credit for material gathered is given to the local Chamber of Commerce and the staff of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. Picture credit going to Gort Rushmer and Pat Britain.

Austin Bowes to Patsy La Rue Key, December 1.

Mrs. Newton Harrell spent Thanksgiving in Wichita, Kansas, with her daughter, son-in-law, and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howse and children.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Nothing Wrong With Democratic Party

There is nothing wrong with the Democratic party which time will not cure.

The Democratic party was the party of the people before Harry S. Truman took over its affairs and turned the party over to the do-gooders who were more interested in wrecking the government than serving the people.

Those who are mourning so long and loud over the election of General Eisenhower should keep in mind the fact that the people elected him when President Truman deserted them in the time of need. It was not a Republican victory in any sense of the word, but demonstrates the fact that the voters of America have sense enough to rise up in their wrath, and kicked the rascals out of office.

Of course we know that a lot of people will not like these words, but ask any voter, in any state in the Union, just how he voted, and more than likely he will declare in all frankness: "I voted against Harry S. Truman."

That is just the reason that The Canyon News supported General Eisenhower. He could be no worse than Truman, and according to general expectation will be a decided improvement.

Eisenhower Asks Able Men to His Cabinet

General Eisenhower meant just what he said during the campaign in calling in the most able men for his cabinet.

Quite naturally his choice will not suit the Democrats. Let it be remembered that the Democrats, or such portion of the Democratic party who still love HST, did not vote and support Eisenhower. Nor did he confer with even good Democrats in making his appointments.

The General has a mandate from the people of America to clean up Washington. The responsibility for his work centers around the men and women he selects to assist him. The mistake, if he makes any, will be his mistake, and not those of any Democrat.

Furthermore, when the General decides that a man is suited for a place in the government, the President-elect is not running to Senator Taft or to Governor Dewey to ask them how the man pleases them. He names those who measure up to his own standards.

When January 20, 1953, rolls around there will be a vast change take place in Washington. There will be a house cleaning, and we hope that it will be for the better.

Plenty of Property to Meet Calls of Taxes

A meeting of tax authorities was held in Dallas the other day to decide how taxes could be increased for the school support for counties and cities of Texas. A tax authority laid it on the line.

This authority called attention to the fact that there is plenty of property in Texas which is escaping taxation. There is need only for enforcing the law, or strengthening the law so that personal property taxes shall no longer evade taxation.

Two items of taxation was mentioned by the speaker—automobiles and bank deposits. There are probably other items of taxation which he did not mention.

This tax authority pointed out that few cars are being rendered for taxes, and practically no bank deposits are rendered. He pointed out the fact that many states make it mandatory that cars be rendered for taxation at the same time that license plates are bought; and that the laws of many states provide that banks open their books on the first of January each year to see who has all of the money on deposit at that time.

This tax authority did not mention personal property of all kinds which practically espace taxation in Texas. Perhaps he gave only these two illustrations as the means of getting plenty of money to operate all functions of government if they were equitably taxed.

However, he urged his listeners not to spend their time complaining because property is escaping taxation, but to go to Austin and lay their problems before the legislature—the only law making body in the state.

Coming of Teevy To Bring Headaches

We are not going to stick out our neck about something regarding which we know not a single thing.

However, we are using the advice of others as the basis for our suggestions:

Don't buy the first set which you see. (We are advised that down in Lubbock they are selling television sets right off trucks, without guaranty or installation).

Furthermore, don't buy a set until you can get it from an authorized dealer, who can install and service it for you. We are told that the operation of a television set is something which requires more than turning a knob and watching the picture.

We have been told by no less authority than Charley Guy of Lubbock that it will be at least nine months or a year before programs worthwhile will come to this area in spite of the fact that TV is about to open in this section.

No, we are certainly no authority on TV and have not bought a set.

Woman from Texas Is Well Qualified

It was the pleasure of the Newsman to work with Oveta Culp as a freshman in the legislature while Miss Culp served as parliamentarian. We became very well acquainted with her at that time and certainly admired her knowledge and ability in the legislature. She was completely a lady under all circumstances and no man serving in the House of Representatives doubted for a moment her wonderful ability.

Her subsequent marriage to former Governor Will P. Hobby gave her an opportunity for development which few women have had. She became an able assistant to the publisher of a great daily newspaper, and her influence extended over all of South Texas.

When the WAC came into existence, President Roosevelt called upon Mrs. Hobby to head this able group of women. He made a good choice in his selection of this Texas woman. She served during the war and was a Colonel when the branch of service was discharged.

She returned to her newspaper work, but like many other Texans she became disgusted with the Truman administration. She was one of the first Texans to announce for the election of General Eisenhower. She worked incessantly for his election, and devoted her untiring talents to the cause.

Mrs. Hobby will have charge of the Federal Security Agency, which handles more government money than any other agency.

Mrs. Hobby is well equipped for the big job ahead. We wish for her the greatest of success.

3rd Annual Cooking School Canyon News

The Third Annual Cooking School of The Canyon News will be held Friday and Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the American Legion Hall.

This will be a splendid opportunity for the women of Randall county to meet for a couple of hours, think about the electrical equipment which they hope to install in their homes, and to be paid well for their time in the way of daily attendance prizes.

Attend the sessions.

It will be worth your time to spend the time socially with the women of the community who are trying to make better homes in Randall county.

Burning Bible Will Settle No Disputes

We note with interest that a group of misguided citizens are gathering to burn the Holy Bible. That sounds pretty bad in the light of what Hitler and his predecessors in crime have attempted to do in a vain effort to destroy the Bible.

The Bible which the 1952 objectors are burning is the new version which has been printed to eliminate a lot of dead timber in the way of words and phrases.

The bonfire boys say that the revised version is a disgrace to the human race.

Various changes have been made in the wording of the Bible since the days of King James when the first translation was made. During the past years those who have made a study of English and phrases which are used in the translation certainly should have found errors of the head, and not errors of the heart. That is the sole reason for the new translation.

We hasten to say that it makes no difference to us what translation of the Bible you read, and which one suits you. The Bible will remain the same regardless of the treatment which it receives.

Our sole purpose is to call attention to the fact that a million copies printed of the new edition have not been sufficient to cover first orders over the nation. Those who would burn the Bible will have quite a bonfire if they succeed in gathering up all of these Bibles and burning them. Other people have tried to do away with the Bible by burning it—but it still continues.

If every individual would try to give something to life, instead of trying to take something from life, there wouldn't be any need of debating the virtues of capitalism and communism.

A professional gambler is a man who risks his money on a sure thing.

GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written Answer to the Plaintiff's Petition at or before 10:00 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this citation, the same being Monday the 22nd day of December, A. D. 1952, at or before 10:00 o'clock a. m., before the Honorable 47th Judicial District Court of Randall County, Texas, at the court house of said county in Canyon, Texas.

Said Plaintiff's Original Petition was filed on the 8th day of November, 1952, the file number of said suit being No. 2521 on the docket of said court, wherein E. E. Watkins and T. W. Henderson are plaintiffs and the defendants are those persons first named in this writ and to whom it is directed.

The nature of said suit is substantially as follows, to-wit:

A suit in statutory trespass to try title to Lot 15 in Block 59 of the Original Town of Canyon City, sometimes referred to as the City of Canyon, Randall County, Texas.

Plaintiffs further affirmatively plead the three, five, ten and twenty-five years statutes of limitation of the State of Texas, and for such other and further relief to which they may be entitled upon trial of this cause.

If this citation is not served within 90 days after date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and seal of said court at office in Canyon, Texas, this 8th day of November, 1952.

ETHEL MULLINS
Clerk, District Court, Randall County, Texas
47th Judicial District of Texas

Buffalo Gals Will Stage Show for Brick Campaign for Student Center

A three-ring circus will virtually be simulated on the West Texas State College campus next Tuesday night, when the Buffalo Gals-sponsored "Community-Campus party" will have a talent show, party games, a play, movies, and a dance running simultaneously.

"All the people of Canyon are invited to join with WT students in an evening of fun," according to Miss Beverly Beck, president of the Buffalo Gals. "Proceeds from the party will go to our brick fund drive."

The drive is sponsored by the Buffalo Gals, a campus service organization, in an effort to raise funds to build a new student union building at the college. Goal is 100,000 bricks, which would cost about seven and one-half cents apiece.

The party will begin at 8 p. m. with an hour's talent show in the Administration Building Auditorium, with other activities scheduled in other buildings on the campus continuing from 9 p. m. until midnight. Admission to all events, with choice of activities up to the people, is 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults.

Weldon Bright, entertainer for Amarillo station KGNC, will be master of ceremonies for the talent show, and he will be assisted by the Weldon Bright Trio, which will later play for a dance in the new Randall Hall ballroom. Portions of the talent parade will be broadcast Wednesday night over Bright's program at 11:10 p. m. over KGNC.

WELDON BRIGHT . . . MC of Show

Following the talent show, a one-act play, "The Long Goodbye," by Tennessee Williams, will be given in the Branding Iron Theatre. At the same time, movies of any, or all, Buffalo football or basketball games will be shown on request in the new physical education building. The movies will be narrated by Hatcher Brown, and will be shown upstairs in the field house. Games, including shuffleboard, ping pong, and others, will be available in the gymnasium.

While the dance is being held in the new Randall ballroom, party games, including bingo and cards, will be on tap in the old ballroom in Randall Hall. Two prizes for each bingo game will be given, Miss Beck said. These will include prizes donated by merchants in Canyon and a "brick scarf" from Palo Duro Dress Shop.

The talent show, which opens events, will see Bright assisted by Bill Wylder, KGNC newscaster and magician of sorts. The West Texas State Varsity Quartet will sing two numbers, "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jerico" and "Little David Play on Your Harp." Quartet members are Bill Epps, Pampa, Dan Stallings, Pampa, John Butler, Chicago, and Joe Garrett, Plainview.

A cutting from "The Man Who Came to Dinner" will be given by Fred Salmans, senior from Amarillo, and Hugh Baker, tap dancer from Amarillo, will perform. Miss Donna Erwin, from Canyon, will sing popular music, while the JazziBelles, quintet recently organized, will sing three selections.

Members of the JazziBelles are Mrs. Joan Conner, Canyon, Jean Stork, Nazareth, Shirley Lee, Shamrock, Florence Coffee, Canyon, and Donna Erwin, Canyon. Accompanist is Natalie Sanders, Amarillo. Their numbers are "How Would You Like to Kiss Me in the Moonlight," "Blue Skies," and "Because Your Conscience Tells You So." Mrs. Conner will also sing several solos.

Rounding out the talent show will be an accordion performance by Ernest Siegrist of Chicago, and "Polonaise" by Chopin, played by Miss Ann Holt, Canyon High School student.

Given earlier this year, the one-act play will be presented by the Buffalo Masquers, with Fred Salmans, Amarillo, directing. Unique lighting effects will be handled by Eugene Hill of Canyon.

Members of the Williams play cast are Cal Foster, Sudan, Ruth Harmon, Floydada, Dick Houston, Amarillo, Don Hodges, Canadian, Lawrence Hunnicutt, Canyon, and Jack Teague, Dimmitt.

Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. G. B. Bourland were Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Preslar of Childress; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bennett and sons, Raymond, Buddy Bill, and Bayless, of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gibson of Canyon; Mrs. Mary Carter and Mrs. Mary Slover of Channing; Mr. and Mrs. Grant White and daughters, Carrol Ann and Nancy Lynn, of Las Vegas, N. M. Mesdames Preslar, Bennett, and White are daughters of Mrs. Bourland.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Devin for Thanksgiving dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Nicholas and daughter, Dena Ann, from Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Nicholas and Ruthella from Marfa, Texas.

Tulia Night To Be Observed Saturday Here

Coach Gus Miller's 1952 West Texas State Buffaloes knock the lid off their home cage season Saturday night when they entertain the McMurry Indians. A large crowd is expected to be on hand to welcome the basketball season in the Panhandle and give the Herd backing.

Saturday night will be "Tulia Night" at West Texas State, a feature started this season and designed to honor a different city each time the Buffs play at home in their new 4,000 seat fieldhouse. Around 400 fans are expected to attend from the Tulia area including the Tulia senior class and the Tulia band. The latter groups will be guests of the college.

Although the Herd lost heavily in graduation from their 1951-52 championship team, the 1952-53 Buffs are expected to grow in strength during the year and mold themselves into a potent unit. Only one senior is on the current squad and that is Dennis Walling, 6'3 Munday guard. Walling is also captain of the squad.

Saturday's outing will be the only chance area fans have of seeing the Herd play before the team departs next week for New York and Philadelphia. The Herd plays Seton Hall in Madison Square Garden Dec. 11 and St. Joseph's in Convention Hall Dec. 13.

Next home game will be Dec. 29 and 30.

Orchestra of WT Will Give Program Monday Next Week

First concert of the year by the West Texas State College Orchestra will be presented Monday night at 8 p. m. in the First Methodist Church. The public is invited, according to Lewis Stoelzing, conductor.

In a move to bring the orchestra closer to people of the community, concerts are being planned in the town, rather than on the college campus, making it easier for Canyonites and others of the region, to attend. Stoelzing is seeking also to revitalize his orchestra by inviting people of the area to join with his college students in making the orchestra larger and more musically effective.

Announcements of the concert for a later date were previously made, but conflicts with another event in town brought the change to Monday.

Wayne Hinds, Amarillo senior, will share conducting honors with Stoelzing, as student conductor. Miss Alma Watson, Amarillo violinist, will be soloist for a Bach selection, "Air for G-String."

On the program, as opening number, will be Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor," with Mozart's "Symphony No. 39" following. Other numbers will be "Barber of Seville Overture" by Rossini, "Suite on Fiddler's Tunes" by McKay, and "Fantasy on Christmas Carols" arranged by Sopkin.

The 34 members of the orchestra and their instruments are: Violins, Wayne Hinds, Amarillo, Alma Watson, Amarillo, Mrs. Donna Wilson, Canyon, N. C. Martin, Amarillo, Dorothy Cleavinger, Canyon, Marshall Jones, Canyon, and Bernye Bob Woodward, Canyon; Viola, Joseph Findley, Canyon, and Margaret Hand, Canyon.

Cello, Doris Joens, Davenport, Iowa, and Carolyn Kiker, Floydada; String bass, Yvonne Cavender, Amarillo, Bob Hinds, Amarillo, Beverly Short, South Bend, Ind., and Eddie Joe Riley, Canyon; flute, Leta Dene Springer, Hereford; oboe, Dan Waldrop, Amarillo; bassoon, Betty Elliott, Amarillo, and Ernest Siegrist, Amarillo; tuba, David Plank, Canyon.

Clarinets, Peggy Williams, Plainview, Clyde Swatzell, Canyon, Sherma Dixon, Canyon, Bruce Cook, Kirkland, and Douglas Sweigert, Borger; Trumpets, Purris Williams, Hereford, and John Daymont, Amarillo; Horns, John Butler, Chicago, and Roger Ridgway, Dumas.

Trombones, Archie Phelps, Canyon, David Evans, Childress, and Bill Miller, Borger; and percussion, Martha Montgomery, Shamrock, and Richard Larson, Amarillo.

Kenneth Fisher, TD3, and Wayne Heeter, TDAN, were Thanksgiving holiday visitors in the home of Kenneth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lem Fisher. Both men are instructors in Training Devices School at Memphis, Tennessee. Wayne's home is in Knox, Pa.

DINNER BRIDGE CLUB OBSERVE THANKSGIVING NEWMAN HOME

Last week at their regular meeting the Dinner Bridge Club celebrated Thanksgiving in a traditional manner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Newman. Table decorations and appointments carried out the holiday motif.

At the conclusion of the games following the dinner, Mrs. Houston Bright and Mrs. Otis Parker won high score honors.

Members present were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Morris, Dr. and Mrs. Robert P. Jarrett, Mr. and Mrs. Hosea Foster, Dr. and Mrs. Houston Bright, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Newman, Mesdames Otis Parker and Larry Holman.

DEN 5 HAS TWO MEETINGS

The Cub Scouts of Den 5 met November 26 at the home of their den mother, Mrs. John Robinson. At this meeting they made Pilgrim hats and guns to be used at Pack meeting program. All of the boys of the den were present.

Monday, December 1, the members held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Robinson. Bobby Bellah brought the meeting to order, after which the boys played a rope game.

Mrs. R. C. Campsey brought cup cakes for refreshments for the boys. Those present were Bob Watts, Pat Watts, Bobby Bellah, Richard Green, Dickie Campsey, Elmer Al Oberst, Elo Myers, Joe Carrol Robinson, Dewayne Prichard, and Tommy Joe Platt. The boys ended the meeting by giving the den yell.

FAIRVIEW 4-H MEETS

The Fairview 4-H girls met in the Lester Bryan home Thursday, Nov. 20. Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Home Demonstration Agent, gave a demonstration on putting the band and zipper in a skirt.

Refreshments were served to Camille and Countess McNeil, Patsy Sykes, Sue Caroline Danner, Gracyne Devin, Miss Patterson, and the hostesses, Mildred and Billie Bryan.

The next meeting will be held December 18 in the home of Gracyne Devin.

TROOP 12 BROWNIES REPORTS

The Brownies Troop 12 met Monday for their regular meeting. After the president had called the meeting to order and the secretary had read the minutes of the last meeting, the members finished the name plates for their daddy's banquet.

They said the Brownie pledge and sang some songs before the meeting adjourned.

Seaman H. A. Mahle, stationed in Rhode Island, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mahle of Lubbock, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Mahle, and his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin.

K. E. Hines has been in the A. T. & S. F. Hospital in Topeka, Kansas, for a check-up.

Recital Scheduled Music Department West Texas State

Miss Pauline Brigham, pianist, and Dr. Houston Bright, baritone, will be presented in the second faculty recital Wednesday night at 8, Dec. 10, in the Administration Building Auditorium at West Texas State College. The public is invited.

Both associate professors in the music department, Miss Brigham and Dr. Bright will present a varied program, ranging from the time-honored compositions of Beethoven, Hydn, Chopin, and Handel, to the later, and lighter works of Debussy, Bartok, Hageman, and Rubinstein.

Miss Brigham, long a member of the music department staff at West Texas State, has studied at the universities of South Dakota, Oregon, Washington, and Michigan. She was a student in piano under E. W. Grabill and Silvio Scionti.

A composer in his own right, having written many selections for choirs and choruses which are now familiar to audiences of the Panhandle, Dr. Bright studied at West Texas State, earning his B.A. and M.A. degrees, and at the University of Southern California, where he earned the Ph.D. degree in musicology. One of his compositions was recently performed by Miss Matilda Gaume, assistant professor of music at West Texas State, in the first faculty recital of the year.

Willson Lectures On This Week At West Texas

"There is no litmus test for immortality," Dr. E. J. Carnell, Willson lecturer, told a pleasantly surprised student audience at West Texas State College Tuesday morning, in the first of a series of addresses. "Neither can you put morality in a test tube for examination," he said.

"Pleasantly surprised" best describes the attitude of his hundreds of listeners, for the vitality and enthusiasm with which Dr. Carnell outlined his "starting point" for answering the theme question of his addresses, "Is it Scientific to Believe in God?" was transmitted to an alert audience. The speaker deftly wove pertinent jokes with an appeal to a rational approach to the existence of God.

"You cannot approach God through empirical experience, nor through test tubes, nor botanical gardens," Dr. Carnell declared. "But it is not necessary for a man to check his intellect at the door when he goes to church."

Self-examination was presented by Dr. Carnell as one of the best methods to approach the matter of God's existence. He challenged students to meditate upon "what it means to be in existence," and the meaning of a soul to better understand the "whys" of God.

"The human heart is more complicated, and thus more difficult to know than the formula for the hydrogen bomb," the speaker declared. "You already believe in the conformity and regularity of the universe, and you believe in the universe itself. The fact is a moral imperative which has the power of obliging us to some further action."

Dr. Carnell, chairman of the department of Apologetics, Fuller Theological Seminary, spoke Tuesday night at the First Methodist Church, and he talked at the regular luncheon meeting of the Canyon Rotary and Lions Clubs. Two other addresses will be given at 10 a. m. Wednesday and Thursday in the college auditorium.

Sponsors of the annual Willson Lectures at West Texas State, as well as about six other Texas colleges, Mr. and Mrs. Willson of Floydada, were present for the opening address Tuesday. Dr. Carnell had previously delivered a series at Texas Tech.

Three denominational student centers on campus will be visited during the week by Dr. Carnell. Tuesday afternoon he appeared at the Methodist Center, and Wednesday he will be guest at the Baptist Student Center. Thursday afternoon, Dr. Carnell will be at the Church of Christ center.

Dr. Carnell continued with his general theme Tuesday night, speaking on "Courage to Venture a Hypothesis." His final talks will be "Boldness to Accept Implications," and "The Sum of the Matter."

Speech Teachers Elect Officers at TSA Convention

Dr. Crannell Tolliver, head of the speech department at West Texas State College, said early this week that the El Paso convention of the Texas Speech Association, November 27-29, was very successful.

During the past three years Dr. Tolliver has been executive secretary of the organization. This position is one of three year duration, explained Dr. Tolliver, and ends with this calendar year. At that time he will be replaced by Dr. Robert C. Capel of Stephen F. Austin State College in Nacogdoches.

There is also a new incoming president of the association. He is Dr. Fred J. Barton of Abilene Christian College. Dr. Barton replaces Mrs. N. N. Whitworth of Amarillo.

Dr. Tolliver will continue to serve the organization as a member of the executive council. "The association," he said, "has been a sort of speech center as far as directing and conducting are concerned." The outgoing executive secretary said his wife and son accompanied him on the trip. The convention started Thursday and ended at noon Saturday.

Tolliver said the general session was conducted Friday. At noon Friday there was a business meeting and during the afternoon various groups met. On Saturday morning there were meetings suitable to area interest.

One of the highlights of entertainment of the convention came on Friday afternoon when the group took a special trip to Juarez, Mexico. A Mexican dinner was enjoyed at the San Antonio Hotel.

Ladies Night Held By Lions Tuesday

Members of the Canyon Lions Club entertained their wives last night at Ladies Night. The event took place in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria.

Approximately 94 persons gathered for a turkey dinner and the fun and antics of the Lions. The master of ceremonies was Dr. Houston Bright. He was assisted by Tail Twisters Peewee Gough and Clark Jarnagin.

Dr. Bright started the program by leading the group in two Christmas songs. The oath of allegiance was led by Lion Milton Morris, and the invocation was pronounced by Father J. Arnold Carlson.

Fred Salmans of Amarillo, a student in the speech department at West Texas State, read the immortal Christmas story, "A Christmas Carol," for the group. He was followed by Lion Joe Findley who preached a sermon on Little Bo-Peep, assisted at the piano by Mrs. Houston Bright.

The Ladies Night committee is composed of Lions R. B. Allen, chairman, W. T. McGregor, Art Roberts, and Bernard Warren.

The song, "The Last Rose of Summer," is from the opera, "Martha."

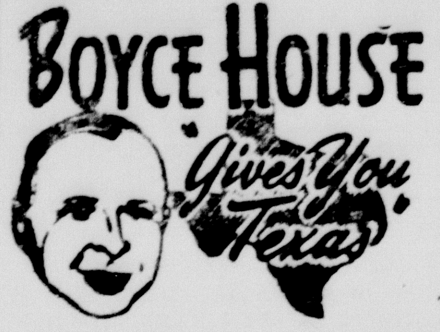
THE AMERICAN WAY

"Nuts!!!!!"



Here is the story of a brave Texas pioneer woman.

You have heard it said many times that if you stand up for your rights, you will make your way under any circumstances. Mrs. Rachel Plummer was among the settlers who came to Texas from Illinois in 1833 and established, on the banks of the Navasota River, Parker's Fort, named for the leader, Elder John Parker. On May 19, 1836, early in the morning, 500 Comanches and Kiowas swept down upon the fort, killing five and carrying an equal number away as captives, among them 9 year old Cynthia Ann Parker.

Mrs. Plummer, one of the captives, was turned over to a warrior and his squaw. She was taken into the snow-covered mountains of New Mexico and, with little clothing and often no footwear, she was required to dress buffalo hides in the daytime and tend horses at night. She was abused and despised.

After a year of such service, she was given as a personal servant to a brutal old squaw, who made her life even more miserable. Mrs. Plummer was in such despair that she determined to stand no further mistreatment so, one day when the old woman started to beat her with a club, she grabbed the weapon and knocked the squaw down.

The occurrence was seen by a number of Comanche warriors who had been lolling in the shade and telling tales. They all rushed excitedly toward her and she fully expected to be killed.

Instead, the warriors thought it a huge joke and patted her gleefully on the back. After that, she was no longer mistreated but had the respect of the entire camp. "Fighting Squaw," they called her. Eighteen months after her capture, she was ransomed and returned to her people — a brave woman who stood up for her rights.

The Fairfield Recorder quotes a local man as saying, "My keenest memory of the horse and buggy days is that I was too poor to own a horse and buggy. In the town in which I lived, not 10 per cent of the people could afford a horse and buggy. In the same town today, more than 95 per cent of the families own cars."

DOING MAN'S JOB

WAITING FOR IT

The cavalry recruit was instructed to bridle and saddle a horse. Ten minutes later the sergeant major came along for his mount and found the recruit holding the bit close to the horse's head.

"What are you waiting for?" he roared.

"Until he yawns," answered the recruit.

GOOD QUESTION

A mother was telling her six-year-old son about the golden rule

"Always remember," she said, "that we are here to help others."

The youngster mulled this over for a minute and then asked:

"Well, what are the others here for?"

RETIRED MAN RETURNS TO SCHOOL

Miami, Fla. — Retirement, says Orra O. Bishop, 77, is a waste of time. So Bishpo, who is a graduate of Michigan State Teachers College in the class of 1900 has returned to school — he's studying for a master's degree at the University of Miami.

FIRST COP IN CENTURY

Sharpsburg, Md. — For 100 years this town of 800 population, has gotten along without a municipal law enforcement officer. Recently, however, Mayor Elmer Koontz decided the community's lawless element was getting out of hand and recommended the employment of a policeman to cope with the problem.

FLEE MOLTEN GLASS

London, England. — Workers at a bottle factory fled for their lives when tons of white-hot molten glass gushed toward them from a cracked furnace. The molten mass settled on the floor of the factory and gradually hardened under the water jets of firemen. No one was injured.

OIL SUPPLIES

Unless this winter is abnormally cold, the oil industry is confident that it will be able to meet demands for heating oil, despite an anticipated increase in requirements of from eight to ten per cent.

ACCIDENT TOLL

During the first six months of this year, 16,820 fatalities were recorded, a three per cent increase over the half-year toll of 1951, when the total for the year amounted to 37,300, according to the National Safety Council. The peak year for highway fatalities was 1941, when 39,969 were killed.

An interim agreement increasing company payments to the miner's union welfare and retirement fund averted a hard-coal strike set for October 1.

SAVES OWN LIFE

Braintree, Mass. — George C. Burns, of Westport, Conn., a New Haven Railroad brakeman, suffered a dislocated shoulder and cuts and bruises in a fall to the tracks. Injured and unable to shout because of shock, Burns disconnected the two freight cars under which he was lying. Other trainmen, checking the loss of pressure in the system, found and removed him.

REUNITED AFTER 72 YEARS

Pemberville, Ohio. — Seventy-two years, two generations and two wars after Mrs. Fred Nolte left Germany, she re-established contact with her sister, Charlotte Wamker of Osnabruck, Germany. A grandson, Donald F. Rahe, now of the U. S. Army in Germany, succeeded in finding his grandmother's sister.

3. One sent to represent another.
4. II Corinthians 5: 20.

AN IDEA

Hubby went out with the boys one evening and before he realized it, the dawn of the next day had broken. He hesitated to call home and tell his wife. Finally he hit upon an idea.

He phoned and when his wife answered he shouted, "Don't pay the ransom! I'm back."

SMALL BOATS DANGEROUS

New York — Small boat accidents annually kill about 1,200 Americans, according to a leading insurance company. A fifth of the accidents occurred when the boats were swamped or the victims washed overboard. Many of those drowned had ignored bad weather, or tipped or over-crowded boats, or had been careless in other ways.

First Revision Of Anderson-Hill History Received

"My Country and Yours" is the title of a history book written by Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of West Texas State College, and Dr. Hattie M. Anderson, professor of history at West Texas State College. Recently the two historians made a revision of the book.

Dr. Hill gives Dr. Anderson most of the credit for a majority of the work on the attractive book which appears to be just as thorough.

The first edition of the two has been adopted as a grade school textbook in several states but not in Texas. The authors hope their revision will be adopted in this state. If the book is placed at the disposal of students of the 5th and 6th grades by the time school begins next fall it will still be timely. The revision is brought up to the date of the 1952 presidential election.

Illustrations, and there are many attractive ones in the book, are done by Elizabeth Rice. The revision of more than 300 pages was published by the Steck Company of Austin. Dr. Hill said approximately three months were spent on the revision which is bound in colors of blue, gray, and red.

The authors believe the books portray one of the finest methods of introducing youngsters to history. There are many huge and colorful illustrations to make history a vivid thing for the beginner. Then, too, the authors feel that the importance of teaching students the history of our country cannot be over-emphasized.

Grade school youngsters of today should know some of the sacrifices our forefathers made to make this the "home of the brave," point out the authors. The two teachers and writers also point out the great value this book could be to youngsters when placed in the hands of a conscientious school teacher in the classroom.

If the book is adopted for use in Texas schools, the youngsters will certainly have a wonderful opportunity for learning history. Their foundation for this field of learning will be based on the excellent material of two well informed persons.

Dr. Hill and Dr. Anderson each received one copy of the book Saturday morning. It is too early to know definitely when the books will be available for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Hines and children spent Thanksgiving in Waynoka, Okla., with Mrs. Hines' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meier. Mrs. Meier returned home with them for a visit.

Navy Recruiter Here Tuesday at College

Lt. Commander J. E. McElroy from the Naval Officers Procurement office in Albuquerque, was on the campus at West Texas State College Tuesday seeking candidates for the Navy's officer training program.

Interviews with students were arranged by the college placement office, and Commander McElroy talked with men interested in the Navy program from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. He also administered a one-hour officer qualification test to students graduating at the end of the fall semester, who were interested.

The children of Mrs. M. E. Cleavinger gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller for Thanksgiving dinner. Present were, in addition to Mrs. Cleavinger and the Miller family, were Mr. and Mrs. Dutch Cleavinger and family of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cleavinger and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cleavinger and family, of Dimmitt; Mrs. C. C. Axtell of Springlake; and the families of Mr. and Mrs. Goldman Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dawson of Dimmitt; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cleavinger of Springlake.

Movie-Goers Ask Better Behavior Boisterous Kids

One of the subjects that consistently provides material for discussion is the action of youngsters and teen-agers in the movie theaters. During the holiday season when youngsters are out of school the shows appear to be even more boisterous.

Some adults think that a standard set of manners for the movies and other public gatherings should be adopted. The following of a few simple rules could make the movies and other public attractions a more enjoyable place for everyone.

Some of the animated antics of the youngsters that grate on the nerves of many adults are those of noisy shouting, moving about, nervous impatience during slow moving suspense or love-making scenes and various types of mimicry. One of the favorite youngster tactics that distracts adults is bursting a paper bag about the time a gun is fired on the screen.

There's an old saying that "kids will be kids" and that's probably the reason they act as they do in a show. A set of theater manners might improve the situation but if there is a movie you want to see, better not wait for the manners. Just prepare yourself for the worse and brave the storm.

Cooperation of Mailing Public Needed at P. O.

A lot of Christmas mailing will be done in the coming two weeks. The important point to remember is that a little help and cooperation will help the postal authorities to be more efficient in getting your Christmas to its destination quicker and in better condition.

Packages should be substantially wrapped and securely tied. Remember they have labels at the post office for your Christmas cards. These cards will go much more quickly if you package them in two bundles. One should be designated for local delivery and the other marked for out-of-town delivery.

When these bundles are tied with the accompanying label obtained from the post office, showing the bundle for local or out-of-town delivery, and handed through the window to an attendant, the job of posting them becomes much faster and simpler. In the event the post office is closed when you desire to mail your cards, simply drop the bundles in the chute for packages in the post office.

Postmaster Guy Harp said the cooperation of the public last year was a wonderful thing, and enabled the postal clerks to do their jobs more quickly and much more efficiently than would have been possible without that cooperation. He hopes for the same type of consideration again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn W. Dowlen and daughter were in Austin the past week visiting with their son, George, who is a student in the University of Texas.

Miss Helen Taylor spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Taylor, in Friona.

Thanksgiving Day dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hillier were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Coston of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tinker and Billy Jack, and Kenneth Hillier, of Amarillo. The occasion was also Kenneth's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Saxton of Hot Springs, Ark., spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Howell of Ralph Switch and other relatives. Mrs. Saxton will be remembered as Mrs. Curtis Robertson.

Richard Sanders is home from Austin where he has been a student in the University of Texas the first semester. He will not return until the second semester, pending an operation.

Mrs. J. T. Sykes of Siloam Springs, Ark., visited last week with relatives and friends. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Edna McCaslin.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Waggoner and family spent last week-end in Denver and Boulder, Colo., visiting friends.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

Sherman Adams, as Assistant to the President, is expected to become the principal White House news source under Eisenhower. Many major announcements probably will funnel through him.

Farmer co-operatives are breathing more easily with announcement of the appointment of Ezra T. Benson as Secretary of Agriculture. An old co-op man himself, he is expected by farmers to squelch attempts to impose heavier taxes on their groups.

Arthur Summerfield, as Postmaster General, may get more authority from Congress to shake up top jobs in his Department. People at Eisenhower headquarters say that the present unsatisfactory mail service can never be straightened out unless the Postmaster General gets more power over personnel.

Richard Nixon, as Vice President, is to act as a liaison man between the White House and Congress. He will attend Cabinet meetings and relay White House decisions and policies to both House and Senate. He also is expected to keep the White House acquainted with congressional views.

New Ambassadors to be appointed by General Eisenhower are expected to be mostly men who have had wide experience either in foreign affairs or in world trade. Mr. Dulles is preparing a list of prospects.

Democrats for Eisenhower in the South are likely to get little consideration for federal patronage jobs. Regular Republicans in the South are so hungry for minor jobs, after being out of office 20 years, that there are not enough to go around.

"Citizens for Eisenhower-Nixon" groups, who played a large role in the campaign, pose a political and financial problem for the incoming Administration. These groups have about $300,000 in unspent funds, and there is some debate about whose money it is and who should spend it.

Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, is being told by all his Senate friends that he must become Majority Leader of the Senate. They reason that Taft has to assume Senate leadership to balance the influence in the new Administration of the group dominated by Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

Senator Wayne Morse, of Oregon, is likely to find himself virtually a lone operator in the Senate. Both Taft and Eisenhower forces agree that they need not show the Oregon independent any consideration in the next Congress. They can count on support from Southern Democrats.

Air Force officials are still annoyed with President Truman for that message to General Eisenhower offering the "Independence," the President's plane, "if you still want to go to Korea." If Truman had not used that phrase, the General might have accepted the offer and thereby simplified the Air Force problem of plane and pilot security for the Korea trip. The "Independence" is always kept in top flying order.

John R. Steelman, Assistant to the President, is reported to be the man who proposed that Mr. Truman do away with wage and price controls by executive order. Other advisers pointed out that these were campaign issues and there was no reason to seem to accept Republican criticism.

Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, was asked by almost every member of the British delegation to the United Nations to use what influence he could to call off, or tone down, the investigation of U. N. employes by a Senate Committee.

Communist infiltration into the Army of Iran is another development in that turbulent country that worries Washington officials. A number of Communist youths have joined the Army and won commissions.

Republican leaders in Washington not agreed on the likelihood of a cut in the next Federal budget.

NEWS LETTER

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS of the 18th Congressional District

What Can Be Done To Prevent A Recession or Depression

Much thought and effort is being employed by business and the Government, both the outgoing and incoming administrations, as to proper measures to prevent a damaging recession or depression within the next ten to fifteen years.

During the past decade our economy has substantially depended upon the preparedness and defense programs. During the first half of that period we were operating strictly on a war economy, while during the last half of the decade we have been operating on what might be termed a semi-war economy.

These types of economy require tremendous expenditures by the sovereign power. It is these expenditures that have provided employment for a tremendous number of people in this country. As all of you well know, these expenditures come out of the public treasury.

This employment through these expenditures has created a circulation of money and has caused much of the prosperity which we now enjoy. Whether this is termed a false economy or a sound economy is of little consequence in the final solution of the problem.

The big problem is to keep a balance in our economy while we are leveling off and reaching a plane of stability. The preparedness program as planned should be leveling off and gradually receding insofar as expenditures are concerned. A reduction in that program of approximately ten billion dollars could result in a balanced budget.

Any trimming of the budget on other expenditures could be employed for reduction of the public debt, or as direct relief to the taxpayer. The tapering off beyond that point will no doubt be gradual in order to prevent great economic damage to a large segment of our citizens and business.

During the decade through which we have just passed the public works program has been at a minimum. Therefore, there is much work that could be done in the nature of public works installations. Much of it is very important.

There are many places in the United States and of course in the 18th District of Texas that are in sore need of additions to public buildings because they have outgrown their old quarters.

The increase in population has made many post office quarters wholly inadequate to carry the load. However, it seems to be the consensus of opinion among the older heads in government that this particular public work would not be sufficient to prevent a sizable recession, should there be a substantial reduction in military and defense expenditures.

Assuming that additional public works will be necessary to prevent widespread employment, which I certainly hope is not the case, much thought is being devoted as to what type of public works will be most beneficial to this country on a permanent basis.

The thought is to cut out and prevent the boondoggling and pork barrel schemes that provided employment at taxpayers' expense without permanent benefits. There is no doubt but that public works expenditures will include reclamation and similar projects. However, these will be closely scrutinized as to their overall benefit.

Another interesting proposal is being made, or perhaps I should say being born. This proposal has to do with the construction of nation-wide super-highways; that is, two super highways from the Atlantic to the Pacific and several such highways from the northern boundary of the United States to the Southern.

There has been much talk around Washington during the past few years about construction of such highways by the Federal Government as public works projects. Some advocates of this proposal support the theory of making these super-highways toll roads similar in operation to the Pennsylvania and New Jersey turnpikes.

Others support the theory that they should be free ways under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government. In either event there will be many, many problems growing out of such a proposal.

These will include location of such highways, acquisition of the necessary land, participation of the states through which they pass in the payment for the land, jurisdictional questions concerning the traveling public, as well as the commercial operators, conflicts of laws between the several states through which the roads might pass, questions between interstate and intrastate commerce along such roads, centralization of power insofar as the regulatory measures applicable, loss of certain states rights in regulation and enforcement measures, and numerous other questions.

It is argued that such highways would not only provide necessary traveling facilities for the public, but would be most valuable as defense items. I have been advised by several sources in Texas that there are many individuals who are interested in building toll roads, and that one group is most anxious to obtain the rights to build a toll road from Dallas to Houston that will be privately owned, in other words, a free enterprise project.

It is entirely possible that if the construction of super-highways would require toll charges for use of the highways, such highways could be built by free enterprise on a nation-wide basis. However, such activities should not obstruct or impair the maintenance and construction of the free highways which have been built and should be built in this country.

It is my hope that our economy can be handled so that private enterprise can and will provide the means to prevent widespread unemployment and that the taxpayer will not be subjected to supporting public works projects not directly connected with governmental functions.

Just Between You, Me and . . . the Gatepost

(By Lawrence Hunnicutt)

Although the calendar says winter is not scheduled to arrive until December 21, you'll find it hard to convince some people that we didn't get a sneak preview of this season last week. The temperature hovered around the zero mark and in the midst of all this wind, snow and cold it seemed that winter had slipped in under the wire about a month ahead of its date with the calendar.

Even though it was cold and somewhat disagreeable there was a great deal of happiness brought on by the snow. The moisture obtained from the snow broke the lengthy drouth suffered in the Panhandle. If we continue to get moisture the farmers should make a good wheat crop and this would certainly be a welcomed change.

Lem Pounds was back in town last week. He is a former Randall County Deputy Sheriff who is now working as a law enforcement officer in Hobbs, New Mexico.

Mrs. Dudley Moore paid us a visit last Friday. She wanted to know who the culprit was that put her name on that story she submitted about the bridge club. Now there's a mystery for some amateur Sherlock Holmes to get to work on.

Now that Thanksgiving is over the Christmas spirit holds undisputed rule of time until midnight of December 25. The most popular musical selections will be those chuck full of yuletide spirit, such as "Frostie the Snowman," "Rudolf the Red Nosed Reindeer," and other favorite carols of the season. Yes sir, Santa Claus certainly has a monopoly of the days after Thanksgiving until December 26th.

This week our visiting student is one who came from Childress many years ago and liked the town so well that she decided to remain here permanently. She is Mrs. Margaret Foster, an adult who decided to obtain a college education at that stage of life where most people already have all the education they desire or have completely given up hope.

Mrs. Foster is a sophomore with an English major and her minor is speech. She is very active in that department. W. A. Moore, assistant professor of speech, said Mrs. Foster was a wonderful influence upon the other students. She has an abundance of vitality, a sense of humor, and is quite animated. She is always eager and willing to enter into the activities that the other students enjoy. Mr. Moore feels that her influence has been a great thing for those young people who have been associated with her. He says her life is an excellent example of a well balanced life of happiness.

Mrs. Foster is one of the few church organists who does not receive a salary for her musical talents. In October Mrs. Foster was honored with a certificate of Recognition from the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church after having served as church organist for 25 years.

In the church field Mrs. Foster has been exceedingly active in women's work and has carried a large responsibility in Christian education. She has worked on a statewide, area-wide, as well as the local level.

Upon entering college Mrs. Foster has shown the other students the importance of higher education. And her age has been an important factor in proving that college is not solely for the boy or girl who graduated last year or the year before from some high school.

It is said that everyone loves a fat man because of his er, ah, well, well rounded personality. One of the things we constantly strive for is to make this column like a fat man or at least get it in a well rounded state. That is the reason we need the department called Chirps of Wisdom.

One college cutie was telling her girl friend about a boy who had recently escorted her to a dance. She made it short with, "When he dances he's all feet and when he stops he's all hands."

A stenographer told another who had just been employed by the firm, "You'll like it here, lots of room for advances."

DHIA News Lists Four Local Herds

The recent Randall County Dairy Herd Improvement Association Bulletin shows the herds of four local dairymen in milk and butterfat production. Standing at the top of the list are the Holstein cows of Neil Downing. In second place is the Holstein herd of the Hinders Brothers.

The other two dairymen's herds which placed in the production of milk are those of C. T. Retherford and V. K. McCaskill. The dairy cows of Neil Downing placed in seven of the nine events listed on the bulletin. Those of the Hinders Brothers in five events. The dairy cows of C. T. Retherford placed in two events and those of V. K. McCaskill in one event.

You Can Help SAVE 10,000 LIVES —Maybe Your Own!

You—the man, woman or teen-ager behind the wheel—have a big responsibility!

In 1950, 35,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents. Last year there was an increasing crescendo of death on the highways—the worst fatality toll in a decade.

What can you do about it?

Your acts of safe driving are your contributions toward a greatly lessened death toll. Every time you lower your speed to stay within safe limits, drive more carefully as night and weather conditions demand extra care, stay in your own traffic lane and abide by all the rules of the road, you are contributing to greater highway safety. Being a safer driver is like giving blood for a transfusion to save a life. Taking a heedless chance may spill your blood—or someone's—and waste it on the highways.

10,000 lives to be saved in 1952 is a goal worth striving for by all who drive or walk. Even half that number saved would help stem the rushing tide of death on our highways. Don't ride with the reckless! Most drivers play fair and observe the traffic rules, but some —the speeders, cowboys, road hogs, drinking-drivers and chronic accident repeaters—must be forced to conform. Temptation to follow their bad examples means that more lives will become death statistics.

Be selfish with your own life—careful with the lives of others.

Buffs Drop Final Game of Season 31-7 to Miners

The West Texas State College Buffaloes dropped their final football game of the '52 season Thanksgiving day in Texas Western's Kidd Field at El Paso by a score of 31-7. It was the Buff's sixth loss of their nine game season and the win gave the Miners their fifth win in a ten game season.

The lone TD for the Buffs was carried by Robert Whelchel of Claude. Kenneth Clapp of Borger booted the extra point but at this time there was less than four minutes left in the game and the Buffs' attempt to overcome the 24 point lead of the TW crew in the remainder of the game were uneventful.

Texas Western's victory was due mostly to the fine work of Dick Shinaut who threw three touchdown passes, kicked a field goal from the 25 yard line, and booted four extra points.

On the Buffalo end of the playing field the outstanding plays were not limited to one person. Duane Barrett of Springlake tossed passes to Bob Ratliff and Seldon Wood which ended in the lone Buff score.

At the end of the first half of play the score was 17 for the Miners and 0 for the Buffs. The Miners had scored their field goal, two touchdowns and two extra points while allowing the Buffs nothing.

In the last half the Buffs held the Miners to two touchdowns and two extra points while racking up one TD and extra point for themselves.

Influence of Church Analyzed for Lions

Lions Club speaker Wednesday was Rev. Win R. Matsler, pastor of the First Christian Church. He spoke upon the contributions of the church as an institution in the community.

In the speech it was pointed out that the Christian home furnished 50% of the training of today's youth. Directly the school and church contribute 6% to 7% of the child's personality and habits.

The speaker also pointed out that secondary schools could not thrive without the church. Statistics show that between 50% and 60% of the churches in the United States contribute between three-fourth and seven-eighth of this nation's college students. In pointing out the statistics the speaker clearly indicated the effect that churches have as a force for good in any community.

One new member was initiated into the club by the membership chairman, Rev. Strauss Atkinson. The new member is Oscar Hinger.

Plans were discussed for Ladies Night held Tuesday night at the college.

NO SALE

Two inmates were conversing in their padded cell. "I've just decided to buy all the diamonds and emerald mines in the world," said one.

The second gent considered this for a few moments and then murmured softly, "Don't know as I care to sell."

HIS LUCKY DAY

Boston, Mass. — John Kelley, a Boston fireman, recently enjoyed a lucky day. First, he went to a race track, bet on a horse, called "The Winner," and won $9.40. Then he dropped into a tavern and won a waltz contest and the prize — a bottle of champagne. When he arrived home, he learned he had won the major prize in a raffle — a model home, valued at $40,000, completely equipped.

RACKETS DRIVE

The September drive of the Internal Revenue Bureau special rackets squad, which cracked down on racketeering and crooks with additional income tax assessments of $12,500,000, brought to more than $160,000,000 the additional taxes and penalties that have been levied against underworld characters since the spring of 1951.

"ANGLED" FLIGHT DECKS

Washington and London official sources have jointly announced plans to build "angled flight decks" on United States and possibly British aircraft carriers. The new decks are expected to increase safety by permitting a somewhat diagonal landing particularly useful in landing jet planes.

LIGHTNING EXPLODES DYNAMITE

Picton, Canada. — A lightning flash exploded dynamite placed in 250 holes drilled in rock for a highway project near here. The explosion rocked the area but there was no damage.

CAUSE FOR WORRY

The woman tourist posed for a snapshot in front of the fallen pillars of an ancient temple in Greece. "Don't get the car in the picture," she warned, "or my husband will think I ran into the place."

COULD HAPPEN

"The new baby has its father's nose and its mother's eyes."

"Yes, and if grandpa doesn't stop leaning over the crib, it's going to have his teeth."

JUST REMEMBER

When tempted to commit bigamy, remember the penalty—two mothers-in-law.

WORTHWHILE HOBBY

North Thetford, Vt. — Invalided by a heart attack, Frank M. Tilton began making old-fashioned toys for his grandchildren who visited him. They and their friends liked them so well that he soon found himself designing them for mass production. Now recovered, he has established a "Grandad's Toy Shop," which is succeeding beyond his wildest dreams.

HEROIN CACHE WORTH $750,000

San Francisco. — A canvas bag containing heroin worth $750,000 — with a passenger's name tied to it — was found aboard the liner President Wilson by a customs official. The passenger, who identified himself as Le Que Hook, was taken into custody on a train at Portland, Oregon.

AND IT WORKS

Wilber, having been to New York, was telling his cronies of the sights he saw.

"An' up at the hospital I seed one of these machines that tell if a man's lying."

"Pooh," said Luke from his corner."

"Pooh? Did you ever see one?"

"See one? I married one."

BETTER HURRY

He: "Well, goodbye, honey. I'm going out of town for a few days. What's your phone number? I'll call you up when I get back."

She: "Plaza 4144, and if a man answers — you stayed away too long."

Local C-C First Complete '53 Member Quota

In the November issue of West Texas Today, the official magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Canyon Chamber of Commerce is written up as the first to hit its 1953 membership quota. Clark Jarnagin, president of the local organization, and local director for the WTCC, handed the full quota of membership payments to Jimmy Lovell, Jr., WTCC High Plains office manager on November 7.

Jarnagin sat through the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Wichita Falls on October 21 and he must have received quite an inspiration for upon returning home he really went to work. In less than three weeks he had the complete quota of 1953 membership payments. At the end of the first week in November he handed them over to Lovell.

Floydada Trips Phillips to Win Bi-District Tilt

An estimated 3,00 fans shivered in the sub-freezing temperature of Amarillo Stadium Friday afternoon to watch the Floydada Whirlwinds upset the Phillips Blackhawks in a second half scoring spree of 13-7, to become 1-AA and 2-AA bi-district champs. It was the first loss for the Blackhawks and the eleventh win in 11 games for the Whirlwinds.

The Blackhawks were the first to score. They made their TD and the extra point in the second quarter.

The Whirlwinds of Floydada won their three conference games in District 2-AA by a large margin in each case. They beat both the Hereford and Tulia teams by a score of 31-0 and the Canyon Eagles 32-0. The power of the team did diminish when they ran up against stiffer opposition.

Because of the frozen, slippery field three of the Whirlwind backfield changed to tennis shoes at the half and this change helped them a great deal.

SECOND WRECK; SAME PLACE

Bound Brook, N. J. — Twice within six months, William Konczyk has had his car wrecked at the Vosseler avenue railroad crossing by Central Railroad of New Jersey trains. Luckily, he escaped unhurt both times. Recently, Konczyk's second car stalled on the tracks. An eastbound train struck it, flipping it onto the west-bound tracks. Konczyk leaped to safety before a west-bound train crushed the vehicle under its cow-catcher.

MILITARY GOODS OUTPUT

The delivery rate of military hard goods — tanks, planes, new weapons and other munitions—is six times what it was before Korea, according to Rear Admiral Malcolm F. Schoeffel, chief of the U. S. Navy Bureau of Ordinance.

ONLY AN OFFICER

Judge — What's the charge against this man, officer?

Officer — Vagrancy, your honor. He was loafing around a street corner all the afternoon.

Judge — Ah, impersonating an officer; 30 days in jail.

NEW HOMES

Another million new houses next year is predicted by builders and men who finance houses. They think the housing boom still has more time to run. Building costs are expected to hold around present levels.

COAL PRICES INCREASED

The government has authorized higher prices for both hard and soft coal. The increase ranged up to 75 cents a ton for bituminous and to $1.35 a ton for anthracite. The increases were granted because of higher labor costs.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

The Business Advisory Council has predicted that at least for the first quarter of 1953 business activity in the nation would remain at a high level. It added that this activity would be supported by stable prices and high income.

CORPORATE DIVIDENDS

Corporate dividends payments in the first ten months of this year showed a three per cent gain over 1951, despite a decline in October.

YULETIDE TREE CRUSH

Pushing her way out from under a pile of Christmas trees, Mrs. Ruth Malens gets help from her husband Walter. The Chicago couple were among the first to receive a load of Yuletide trees for the Christmas market. They unloaded 2000 of them in the Great Northern freight yards, will put them on sale for the holidays.

G. I.'s SHOULD REINSURE

The Veterans Administration reminds millions of veterans of the last war, who hold five or eight year G. I. term life insurance that they can still convert to permanent plans of G. I. insurance, with guaranteed values that term policies lack. The only G. I. life insurance which may not be converted under present laws is the special five-year non-convertible term policy that is issuable to veterans with service since June 27, 1950, the start of the Korean hostilities.

MEDICAL MANDRAFT

The Defense Department has issued a call for 945 medical men in January and Pentagon experts indicated that heavy casualties in Korea might force the Army to keep its over-all draft sights high. The Department told Selective Service it would need 544 physicians, 383 dentists and eighteen veterinarians in January.

Did you know that the sound made by a cricket is a stridulation?

ALL GONE

Bartow, Fla. — Notified that one prisoner, Frank Ward, 35, was missing from the state road camp, Sheriff Hagan Parrish sent trusties Forrest White, 34, and Alfred Goodson, 23, to look for him with bloodhounds. That was the last seen of them — also.

1952 CROPS

The Agriculture Department reports that the volume of all crops this year will be only 2.5 per cent below the 1948 record yield. The supply of corn was said to be especially good and large, but winter grains have been hit by drought.

JAP LEND-LEASE

The United States and Japan have signed an agreement under which the Japanese will receive 18 frigates and 50 landing craft, under a sort of lend-lease arrangement.

WARWICK'S

Statehouse

by HUGH WILLIAMSON

The size of Texas' highway problem is indicated by a report of the Texas Legislative Council.

The report contains 184 pages, not counting numerous full-page charts and diagrams.

No recommendations are made by the report, which is a study of the situation and a presentation of facts.

Analysis of those facts provides a clear conclusion, however; either the Legislature which meets next month is going to find more revenue for roads, or the state highway department before very long will be exclusively in the maintenance business.

Without more money, new construction will soon be out of the question.

A recent survey by the Associated Press indicates that legislators are divided over the question.

Some of them say that they will oppose any new taxes for roads. Others are willing to raise some taxes, but they think it will be less than additional $200 million per year, which is the amount the Highway Department says it needs to bring the state system up to what it ought to be and maintain it for the next ten years.

It is a peculiar situation that a lot of the needed money is actually paid in state taxes by purchasers of gasoline. But a hunk of the revenue is drained off to schools and to the counties.

For that reason there is not enough left to carry on the vast construction program recommended by the Highway Department.

A great many road experts think it is wrong for highway user revenues to be spent for purposes other than roads. As a matter of practical politics, however, it would be extremely difficult to get the schools and counties to relinquish their share of the gasoline tax.

The school and county people have great political strength and would fight to the death any bill that would take their gasoline tax away from them — unless some other source could be found to provide an equal amount of money.

Therefore it seems likely that if the money is going to be forthcoming for roads, it will have to come from new taxes.

Some of the experts justify an additional tax on gasoline by citing actual studies which prove that it is cheaper to operate a motor vehicle over good roads than over poor roads.

In other words, say these observers, you pay for good roads whether you have them or not. That is to say, if roads are poor you pay in terms of greater operating cost, lost time, and traffic accidents.

Other experts recommend an increase in registration fees. And one legislator told the Associated Press that the money, in his opinion, should come from a tax on natural gas leaving the state.

At any rate, here is what the Highway Department would do if it had the extra $200 million per year:

Maintain and improve the present 15,000 miles of interstate and primary highways. These would be widened to four lanes where traffic volumes justified such expansion.

Add 5,000 miles to the present 10,000 miles of secondary state highways to complete a connected system.

Add 20,000 miles to the farm-to-market road system, bringing that system up to 40,000 miles.

In those ways, the present state system of 45,000 miles would be increased to 70,000 miles over the 10-year period.

As a guess, I would say that the Legislature will provide some additional money—but not $200 million per year additional — for highway and road needs.

Wayside News

Our community was greatly blessed with the much needed moisture in the form of snow.

Carbon Monoxide Is Deadly Poison Of Winter Time

"You can't see it . . . you can't smell it . . . you can't taste it and yet it can kill you," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, referring to carbon monoxide. A silent enemy, it strikes its victims in closed rooms, garages and cars where wood, coal, gasoline, or natural gas is burning.

Some victims of this silent prisoner never knew their life was in danger. As others died, they may have realized that the killer was at hand, but were helpless to do anything about it. They were so benumbed that they could not get out into the fresh air; they couldn't walk or even stand up. Those who escape death, once this silent killer permeates a closed room, garage or automobile, are rescued by someone who discovers their plight.

Carbon monoxide is given off when wood, coal, gasoline or natural gas is burning, but not all the gas is burned. Its danger is greatest in cold weather because people tend to close their houses and cars so tight that no fresh air can circulate. When this happens, carbon monoxide accumulates to a dangerous concentration. It kills because it prevents the victim from getting enough oxygen.

To help prevent such deaths all stoves should be vented, keep heated rooms ventilated, do not leave gas heaters burning while you and your family are asleep, do not entirely close all the windows in your car and do not run your car in a closed garage.

Whether your stoves, heaters and your car serve you and family usefully, capably and safely, or whether they become agencies of death depend upon how wisely you use them. Remember, ventilate at all times.

COMING OR GOING?

Another advantage of the streamlined car is that you can often get by with parking it on the wrong side of the street.

Engagement Is Announced at Tea

DOROTHY McREYNOLDS

Monday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McReynolds on the Hereford highway was the setting for a tea given by Mrs. McReynolds to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Don Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Price of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. McReynolds, Dorothy, and Mrs. E. R. Archambeau and E. C. McReynolds of Amarillo, aunts of the bride-to-be.

Mrs. Frank Heare of Miami, sister of Dorothy, and Mrs. Robert McReynolds of Amarillo, aunt of Dorothy, registered the more than 100 guests that called between 3 and 5 o'clock. Misses Florence Marie Coffee and Alice Simms played appropriate piano selections throughout the tea hours.

The announcement was made on the centerpiece on the silver and blue serving table. Blue carnations were gracefully arranged on the blue sterofoam base that supported a silver wedding ring surmounted by two charmingly attired love birds. From the wedding ring silver net streamers bore the inscription "Dorothy and Don, December 20."

Mrs. Dale O'Brien and Mrs. Joe McReynolds, cousins of the bride, from Amarillo, presided at the refreshment table.

Other members of the house party were Mesdames Glenn Dowlen, Ross Craig, S. S. Howell, Guy Harp, D. M. Foster, Gladys Dixon, Jerry Stallings, Misses Teddie Howell, Betty Ross Craig, Bettie Jean Graham, and Nelda Ruthart.

THE HAWES ENTERTAIN WITH MUSICAL AND PIE SUPPER

Union Service of Churches Draws Large Audience

A good crowd was reported at the annual union service of the churches of Canyon Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Presbyterian church. It was the regular Thanksgiving program observed each year by the community.

Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, presided at the program. The song service was under the direction of the Presbyterian Choir.

Scripture reading and prayer were given by Rev. Winston Wilbanks, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. A brief history of Thanksgiving was given by Rev. Win Matsler, pastor of the First Christian Church, and A. J. Pettit, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, delivered the Thanksgiving message.

"Beautiful Savior" and "Prayer of Thanksgiving" were numbers played by a group of Canyon High School Band members.

Juniors To Present 'It's a Date' Dec. 4-5

Two Entire Casts In '52 Production

"It's a Date," 1952 junior play, is ready for lights and action. The curtain will open on the three-act comedy at 8 o'clock in the Canyon High School auditorium Thursday and Friday.

The junior class is proudly presenting "It's a Date" by Jean Provence after careful preparation and work for four previous weeks. Sponsors are Eddie Conner and Mrs. Cecil Simms. Stage managers are Joe Britt, Joe Watson, Charles Miller, and Don Beck.

The dramatic comedy is a scene from the life of a teen-age gang. Linda Rogers, who is growing up, finds that life's path of roses also has thorns. Austin Farrell is the object of Linda's affection until Diana Gordon, the school siren, comes along and makes a heel out of both she and Austin.

Hal Montgomery, a forgotten football hero, finally fills the vacancy that Diana has made and in the end, everything is fair in love and war.

You will laugh at the comical Nadine Wilson and Buz Stevens in their hilarious dancing lessons and amusing teen-age comments. Valarie Rogers and Jay Bishop are very understanding when Linda is stood up by the most wonderful boy in the world. Queenie, the Rogers' negro maid, finds that voodoo is impossible up to the sweet words of her molasses man.

A completely different cast will perform each night. Those acting Thursday are Virginia Holt, as Mary Rogers, Raymond Haddock as George Rogers, Wanette Green as Linda Rogers, Camilla Davis as Queenie, Dorothy Neblett as Nadine Wilson, Janelda Cunningham as Kay Phillips, Doris Bourn as Ilka Marsh, Edel Money as Hal Montgomery, Larry Porter as Buz Stevens, Annelle Pond as Diana Gordon, Ted Briggs as Austin Farrell, Arlen Ruthart as Jay Bishop, Shirley Peppard as Patsy Fisher, and Barbara Winters as Shirley Yeats.

Friday, those performing are Camilla Davis as Queenie, Billie Graham as Mary Rogers, Joe White as George Rogers, Ann Holt as Linda Rogers, Georgia Nelson as Valarie Rogers, Jo Ann Mickey as Nadine Wilson, Frances Pennington as Kay Phillips, Louise Hunter as Ilka Marsh, Charles Boling as Hal Montgomery, Ted Lowe as Buz Stevens, Norma Thurman as Diana Gordon, Bob Wilkinson as Austin Farrell, Alan Ray Hawkins as Jay Bishop, and Wilda Pitt as Shirley Yeats.

Intermission specialties for both nights are as follows: Ann Barnhill will act as master of ceremonies Thursday night and Ruby Williams will emcee Friday evening. Appropriate entertainment will be given both evenings during intermissions. Members of the junior class will entertain.

Be sure to see "It's a Date." Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Careful Driving

Well, kids, how do you like the cold weather? Although snow can be fun, it can be dangerous also. At times such as these, you should be extremely careful when driving.

In the winter we always expect a lot of accidents due to driving carelessly on wet, icy streets and highways. You can help prevent these accidents. Here are a few pointers everyone should remember when the thermometer drops to zero.

First, never put on brakes while driving on icy payments. Sliding in heavy traffic is sometimes fatal.

Second, visibility is always decreased a great deal due to steamed over windshields, snow blindness, or drifted snow banks which may block vision at intersections, side roads, and curves. Watch the other fellow and anticipate what he will do.

Third, observe all rules of safety. Not only at times like this but always obey traffic rules such as stop signs, signal lights, caution at intersections, and most important of all you should obey speed limits. Check regularly to see that your car is in perfect condition.

Many lives are lost each year due to careless driving. You can help save those if you remember these few simple pointers and rules of safety. Obey all traffic laws and drive carefully! It may be your own life that you save.

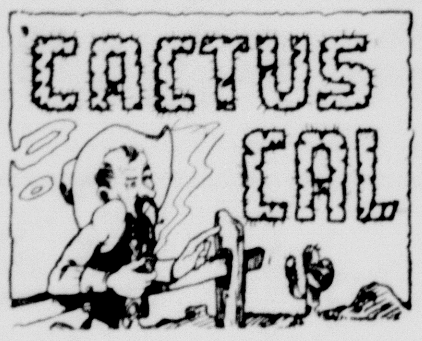
The Eagle's Tale

27th Year | Published by The Canyon News for Canyon High School | Wednesday, December 3, 1952



As Ol' Cal was coming out of English after an exam that was a fate worse than death, he overheard several discussing their six weeks tests also.

Don Beck said there was nothing plain to him about plane geometry. Ann Holt stated there were going to be several black marks on her if she failed typing. Ted Briggs was quoted as saying that there was going to be a big explosion if he did not pass chemistry.

Ken Kuykendall said past history was worrying him gray. Jim Simon said there was not a "shadow" of a doubt that he had better stay home and cram for quizzes.

Ol' Cal's eyes nearly popped out when he saw those two big, gorgeous Gruen wrist watches that are being flashed around on the arms of Norman Tucek and Martha McBroom. Of course, it was a simple matter to win one of the watches, providing you really put your salesmanship to it, plus hard work.

Cal just must not have had that much initiative. He also noticed a strange green fog floating around the halls of CHS last week, and wondered what the reason was for this unusual circumstance. It did not take him long to discover that it was it was a relust of envy on the part of a great number of students when beautiful brown-colored radios were presented to Ted Lowe, Billie Graham, and Larry Porter because of their strenuous efforts peddling magazines.

Rev. Win Matsler Addresses School Assembly in Thanksgiving Program

"Your high school diploma is a pretty good guarantee of immunity against prison bars." This point was brought out by Rev. Win Matsler in a talk on Thanksgiving delivered to the students of Canyon High School Wednesday, November 26.

"One of the tragedies of today is that there are not enough good things to do," stated Rev. Matsler as he emphasized the importance of working and keeping busy to avoid the perils of mischief.

Upon interviewing persons held in a state prison, a friend of the speaker discovered that the larger per cent of the prisoners had a poor home background, did little or no work, had a lack of education, and entered a church only on rare occasions.

The speaker gave a brief account of his own happy childhood, and brought to a realization the fact that the youth of today should give thanks for their family life, the opportunity to work and be happy, good schools and education, and for the freedom to pray and worship in the church.

With a closing prayer, Rev. Matsler concluded the program.

The address was preceded by a song of Thanksgiving, led by Bob Wilkinson and Ed Money. Miss Ada V. Clark and the girls' chorus sang "Morning Star on Dark Night." Dorothy Neblett read appropriate scriptures from the Bible. Tom Middleton acted as the master of ceremonies.

Juniors Present Pantomime

"Death of a Salesman," a short pantomime, was presented by members of the junior class as part of the assembly program.

Prizes for top salesmanship in the magazine sales drive were presented to Billie Graham, first, Ted Lowe, second, and Larry Porter, third. They received radios for their successful campaigns. Pencil sets were given to juniors who were top salesmen for each day. They were Joe White, Bob Wilkinson, Billie Graham, Larry Porter, and Norman Tucek.

Two watches were awarded to Martha McBroom and Norman Tucek. Daniel Parker will receive a trophy for selling the most subscriptions to Ladies' Home Journal magazines as soon as it arrives. Certificates of achievement were given to the students who sold $30 or more in magazines.

A member of the audience drew Janelda Cunningham's name to entitle her to receive a ten dollar reward.

Senior Girls Give First Class Party

At a senior class party held in the high school cafeteria Tuesday night, November 25, games of different kinds, dancing, and refreshments were enjoyed by all.

The cafeteria was decorated in a Thanksgiving manner, with colonial hats, pumpkins, and autumn leaves.

After refreshments were served, those who chose, danced, while the others played card games.

BAND PLAYS

"Prayer of Thanksgiving" and "Beautiful Saviour" were the selections played by a section of the Canyon High School Band at the Union Church service held at the Presbyterian Church November 26. Every year this service is held at a different church at Thanksgiving time.

PUT MARKERS UP

We see by the signs that Mr. Gibson and Mr. Miller hung out their shingles last week. Also got around to putting new "street" markers on the auditorium, too.

FFA Team Will Go To State Meeting

Attending the FFA State meeting in Huntsville December 4, will be the Junior chapter conducting team of the Canyon FFA chapter.

Ralph Miller tied for first place score of individual entrants at the Area I Leadership contest held November 22 at Plainview. He scored 98 out of a possible 100.

The Junior chapter conducting team won first place at the Area I Leadership contest. The quiz team of the chapter won second place, and the Senior chapter conducting team won third place.

John Cabot, the explorer, was a native of Italy.

Something To Think About - - -

"Truth and honesty—that is our starting point. Freedom, progress, and civilization, our goal." This was the motto established in October, 1869, by La Prensa, the famed newspaper of Buenos Aires, Argentina; edited and published from 1938 to 1951, by the renowned Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz. In January, 1951, the publication of La Prensa was stopped by the dictator, Peron.

Dr. Gainza Paz was exiled, and came from Uruguay to speak at the dedication of the new Journalism Building at the University of Texas on November 1.

Here are some excerpts from his speech:

"The newspaper is itself a school, and every reader is a student. The newspaper as a school offers its lessons to the child and the philosopher in all climates; night and day; it never closes; it is everywhere; it costs the reader almost nothing; its lessons go by land, sea and air. And always the newspaper briskly goes about seeking more students.

In this colvulsed and divided world, a newspaper man has to enlist in the army of freedom. Journalism and Liberty are inseparable. A sheet of printed paper, if it be not written in freedom, can never be an expression of the journalism which contributed to make great peoples of America and aided man to progress in all continents.

It cannot be said that today the world has more freedom than it had before 1914 or 1939. Two tyrants went down, two totalitarian governments disappeared, and they were the principal executors of unbridled violence. But — how many new dictatorships have been born, or have waxed in strength, even more terrible?

To take the field in defense of freedom you do not need to wait until the jails are full of political prisoners, or until citizens flee from their own countries, or until newspapers are forcibly closed and the people made mute from terror. Those who truly love freedom must cherish it before they begin to lose it.

The millions of human lives sacrificed during the World War became the foundations for the greatest effort that humanity has ever made to assure its liberty, secure justice, and fortify the fraternity of man. That enterprise, symbol of all man's best hopes, was named the United Nations. But it is being converted into the Dis-United Governments.

In the defense of freedom which lives, or the reconquest of freedom which is being lost, journalism has a functional irreplaceable function.

News—the information which journalism supplies—is even more effective than editorials. Injustice and error are punished and corrected by reporting; the formation of public opinion depends on ample knowledge of facts.

The officially-bought and officially-kept press publishes only that news which suits its master. Instead of a tonic, that press is a narcotic poison.

Physicians study not only the advances of healing. They must go to the sick bed; they must study an epidemic where it breaks out; they must recognize the first symptoms.

Yes, as Americans and men of the press, we have an unquenchable faith in the peoples of our continent, a common purpose of defending our freedom, a common conviction that without liberty there can be no peace, and a common devotion to free institution."
—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz.

Twin beds were first made by Sheraton, the furniture designer.

Confucius was known to his disciples as Kung.

"Who is your favorite teacher?" a national magazine asked recently, in a contest for teenagers. The best letter saying why a certain teacher was chosen won the prize.

Like the little girl who said each year she had a new favorite, because each one gave her something different, I grew up a teacher "liker." There was Miss Waring, whose eyes twinkled as she wrote "Invert" on a stubborn math problem; Miss Miller, who had beautiful brown hair and wore a pretty yellow coat; Miss Flack, who made Latin a game instead of a chore.

But, oddly enough, the name and face of the one who left the most lasting impression are long gone. She remains in memory for only one thing. It was the fifth grade. She must have sat in study hall and pictured her squirming charges as characters in Alice in Wonderland. Anyway, we came up one day acting out the Mad Hatter's Tea Party, to the delight of the rest of the class.

The Mad Hatter himself was a slow, pudgy fellow with staring brown eyes. Decked out in stovepipe hat and batwing collar, he made those nonsense lines sound as if they were written for him. The Dormouse was an energetic little boy with large ears and a huge nose, which he seemed to be following around expectantly all the time. Probably because I was the girl with the straightest hair and the least sense of humor — and maybe because I wore a white pinafore over my red plaid dress — I got the role of Alice.

That teacher had to spend many after-school hours on that project. And it didn't exactly fit into the English course. But for me she transformed Lewis Carroll's fantasies, from perplexing gibberish in childhood to refreshing whimsy for later life.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to express our deep appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for their many kind attentions during the death of our loved one. Your beautiful flowers, many cards and visits helped at all times to soften our sorrow. The lovely food served by the women of the different churches was greatly appreciated. May God's richest blessings be with each of you.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our friends in Canyon and vicinity for their kindness to us at the time of the death of our husband and father.

Mrs. Oleta Henson and Eddy Henson

THANKSGIVING

O give thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: for his mercy endureth forever. —I Chronicles 16:34.

Let never day nor night unhallowed pass but still remember what the Lord hath done. —Shakespeare.

God has two dwellings: one in heaven and the other in a meek and thankful heart.—Izaak Walton.

Accept my thoughts for thanks; I have no words. —Hannah More.

Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech. —Mary Baker Eddy

Heap high the board with plenteous cheer, and gather to the feast,
And toast the sturdy Pilgrim band whose courage never ceased.
—Alice Williams Brotherton

WE'RE STILL FRIENDS

Mrs. Jones — "I understand you've got your divorce Sally. Did you get any alimony from your husband?"

Laundress — "No, Mrs. Jones, but he done give me a first-class reference."

WARWICK'S

Imperial Elegance, Old and New!

Ancient tradition and modern design meet in the court dress of Great Britain. At left is seen the elaborate costume worn by Sir George Bellew, Garter King of Arms as he carries the seal of his office and prepares to lead a procession into the House of Lords. His clothing has great historical significance and was designed far back in England's history. At right is a pretty English model displaying one of Great Britain's latest gowns offered for the approval of Queen Elizabeth II and her sister, Princess Margaret. The dress of cream-colored silk satin, is draped into a fan-bodice atop a sheath skirt which is framed by a regal train.

ARTISTICALLY EXPRESSED

"It took eight sittings."

"What? Have you been having your portrait painted?"

"No, learning to skate."

SPICY LIFE

"It is work that gives flavor to life." — Amiel. Uh, huh. Makes it pretty bitter, doesn't it?

FIT IN FARE BOXES?

Has anyone any constructive ideas on what to do with campaign buttons now that the election is over?

Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small;
Though with patience stands He waiting with exactness grinds He
all. —Von Logan.

Luxury may possibly contribute to give bread to the poor; but if there were no luxury, there would be no poor. —Home.

Youngsters and Smokers Require Licorice Supply

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The United States imports more than 40 million pounds of licorice root annually to satisfy the sweet tooth of juvenile America and the taste preference of millions of tobacco users.

The dried roots of the licorice plant (Glycyrrhiza glabra) are shipped to the United States from southern Europe and Asia Minor for processing into extracts used primarily in tobacco treatment and candy making. Iraq and Turkey supply most of the American need, with Italy, Syria, and Russia providing the balance.

The plant, a perennial, grows wild in the exporting countries and is extensively cultivated in others, notably Spain. It has been grown in California and Louisiana, but not profitably, because three or four years must elapse between planting and digging of roots.

Biggest Consumer

Only a small percentage of the licorice extract produced is used in the familiar black candy beloved by school children. The greatest part of American production, more than 90 per cent, goes for treatment of tobacco.

Tobacco and candy are not the exclusive consumers of licorice, however. Some of it goes into medicine, to make cough preparations and to coat bitter pills.

Licorice is sometimes used in shoe polish, and chemists employ it in a compound, glycyrrhizin, which is 50 times sweeter than sugar.

By-Products Useful

In addition, waste liquid from the extraction produces a readily foaming substance widely used in fire extinguishers.

The root probably first was used as a medicine. There is evidence that coughers and sufferers from asthma and other respiratory troubles in ancient Greece, Asia Minor, Egypt, and China took licorice. With this in mind, the nation's largest producer of licorice has established a fellowship at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy in Boston to study its medicinal qualities.

An effort also is being made to promote the confection use of the extract in the United States. Popular as it is among school children, licorice candy is far more widely consumed in England than in this country.

Coeds Work, Not Rest Vacation Study Shows

SANTA BARBARA—If you think that Miss Coed is resting on her laurels—or just resting—this summer, the dean of women at Santa Barbara College of the University of California can tell you otherwise.

A survey of the summer activities of sophomore women verifies the fact that college women are working, working, working at all kinds of jobs.

"College women nowadays seem to take it for granted that they are going to work in the summer to help themselves through school," Dr. Helen E. Sweet, dean of women, said.

The number of women students working has been increasing, she states, and this summer the proportion is greater than ever. The planned work career, along with the college career, has become the accepted thing.

Figures show that approximately 75 percent will turn-to for the summer—everything from playing in an orchestra to waiting on tables at one of the national parks.

Some are going on with their education—about 15 percent—and many of those are working part time.

What about those who are going to have just a plain, old-fashioned lazy vacation? Or maybe a trip to Europe or Acapulco? There are very few—5-10 percent. A small number are taking pleasure trips and others are helping at home. Of course, some of them are getting married.

At any rate, the girls should have more money, have less trouble with inflation, and perhaps once in a while buy a cup of coffee for the football player—who is probably at home this summer, resting!

Eleven-Year-Old Boy Plays With Big Bus

Happy Birthdays Are Fun, Easy Too!

BY EDNA MILES

YOUR child's birthday party is always a memorable event. Probably you'd like to spend a great deal each year in order to have things just right. And most likely, your budget won't allow it.

Without a large expenditure, you can have party accessories with a custom look. To make place mats, napkins and bibs, you need only some drill or other sturdy fabric and several packages of the new adhesive denim patches that can be ironed onto the fabric. (These will withstand frequent launderings.)

You'll want to work out your own contrasting color schemes, of course. For four place mats and four napkins, you'll need one and one-eighth yards of fabric. Begin by cutting out four rectangles 20 by 13 inches and four 10-inch squares.

Fringe each edge of each piece by pulling threads so that you get a one-half-inch fringe. A row of machine stitching around the inside edge of the fringe will keep it from fraying when it's laundered.

Now, trace your child's favorite animals onto the denim patches and cut them out. Place the cut-out figures on the mats and napkins and iron into place.

For the bibs, make a pattern from brown wrapping paper for each bib. You can do this by tracing around a bib you already have on hand.

Bind the edges of the bib with narrow bias tape which you can buy in the five-and-ten. Stitch it around the edges of the bib on the right side, then turn it to the wrong side and hem. Continue the bias strip at the neckline to make the ties at the back of the neck. Turn in the raw edges of the tie and slip-stitch.

As before, place the denim patch figures on the bib and iron them into place. It's as simple as that.

These gay circus figures look bright and pretty on place mats and napkins for a birthday party. Decorative cut-outs are made from new adhesive patches in bright-colored denim. They are ironed on, will adhere perfectly and will launder indefinitely.

Rabaul Decides To Rebuild City Despite Volcano

WASHINGTON, D.C.— The Australian government, undeterred by volcanic danger or World War II bombings, has decided to rebuild the town and port of Rabaul on New Britain Island in the Bismark Archipelago.

Rabaul lies on Simpson harbor, often described as one of the most beautiful in the world. It is at the extreme northeastern tip of New Britain Island, a mountain-spined crescent about 300 miles long and 50 miles wide, northeast of New Guinea.

The splendor of Simpson harbor, is enhanced by five active volcanoes towering above its shores, and one in the harbor itself.

Volcanic Frosting

It was the danger of volcanic eruption, similar to an explosion in 1937 that covered Rabaul with a frosting of volcanic ash and resulted in considerable loss of life, that caused the Australian government to hesitate before rebuilding the chief city of the UN-mandated island.

But Australian officials are now convinced that vulcanologists can predict serious eruptions. The government has announced a contribution of nearly $45,000 for construction of permanent escape routes to enable residents to flee potential explosions.

Presumably the eruptions can be foretold by the vigor and length of the "gurias" that usually precede them. "Guria" is a local name for recurrent violent, rolling earthquakes that shake dishes and sometimes knock down buildings. As a rule, residents take gurias in their stride.

Most Bombed Spot

Earthquakes and volcanoes, however, had little to do with the destruction of the beautiful pre-war town of Rabaul, with its pleasant homes and stately tropical trees. Bombs did the damage.

The Japanese seized New Britain early in 1942 and took Rabaul after overwhelming the gallant defense put up by the local militia. They proceeded to make it a powerful base, bringing in some 100,000 troops and building three airstrips to augment the two already in existence.

The Allies decided that an assault on Rabaul would be immensely costly. Bombing was ordered, and the orders were so well carried out by U.S., Australian, and New Zealand pilots that the town became known as "the most bombed spot in the Pacific." One observer said that Rabaul was not only damaged; it was erased.

The city was partially rebuilt after the war. Makeshift shacks of scrap wood and corrugated iron replaced comfortable houses, fine clubs, and pleasant hotels. The harbor had been completely bombed out, and one of the initial reconstruction grants from Australia was $223,000 for a new wharf.

Today, every effort is being made to restore Rabaul so that it can be known again as "the loveliest town in the Pacific."

Clyde Estuary Beauty Is Tourist Attraction

GLASGOW, Scotland—The Clyde estuary is one of Scotland's show places. Historic castles and towers —vast ship building and engineering works—little towns nestling along the shores—green isles—majestic mountains—bold headlands—rugged cliffs and fair green slopes all combine to form a scene that is difficult to equal anywhere else.

Famous resort towns such as Gourock, Wemyss Bay, Skelmorlie, Helensburgh, Creigendoran, Dunoon and Rothesay offer many attractions for vacationers.

The breath taking view of the Kyles of Bute, and the delightful Island of Arran dominated by 2,866 ft. Goatfell, Arran's highest peak also form a part of the picture.

Then too, there are exciting tours by steamers of famous Loch Lomond, Loch Long, Loch Goil and Loch Ech, all part of the Firth of Clyde country.

Don't forget the Ayrshire coast and nearby Ayr, birthplace of Scotland's national poet, well beloved "Robbie Burns," and too, Millport and Campbeltown, other popular spots along the coast.

Limbless Korean Vet Is a Father Suddenly

JOLIET, Ill. — Hubert Reeves who lost all four limbs in the Korean War, became a father recently — two months ahead of schedule.

His wife, Beverly, gave birth to a daughter prematurely at Silver Cross Hospital. The baby, who wasn't expected, was placed in an incubator. Doctors said she was in good condition.

Reeves was at Hines General Hospital awaiting operations to fit him with artificial limbs at the time of the birth.

The baby was named Deborah Jean. She weighed 3 pounds 6 ounces at birth.

Identifying Germs By Blood Specimen Is Research Task

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J.—Training "private eyes" in an international detective school in which the criminals are dangerous disease killers is the latest important service of the Rutgers University serological museum on behalf of human health.

Ever since Dr. Alan A. Boyden, director of the unique Museum, and his staff perfected a virtually foolproof method for tracking down disease carriers by blood identifications their knowledge and methods have been sought more and more in the far corners of the earth.

Until recently, however, disease fighters in such places as the Belgian Congo have been willing to let the Rutgers museum serve as a very special kind of "crime detection laboratory," analyzing clues sent here for study.

Last year, for example, museum specialists working with blood meals from the stomachs of mosquitoes taken in malaria-infested regions of Central Africa were able to give medical authorities there a complete new line of attack. Instead of rodents, the state university scientists proved that a tiny antelope was the "wanted" disease carrier.

But wouldn't it be quicker if we learned the Rutgers method of identification by blood specimens and could use it in the field, disease fighters asked. Dr. Boyden agreed that it would.

During the past month, the museum staff has been busy teaching three scientists from such remote places as the Ruanda-Urundi area in the Belgian Congo and the vastnesses of Western Canada how to use compartive serology in their work.

Frank L. Lambrecht of the Institute for Scientific Research in Central Africa spent a month on the state university campus. He explained that one of his projects is to open new areas in Africa for colonization. To make these areas habitable, disease must be controlled and since malaria and sleeping sickness, two of the most dangerous, involve animal carriers, identification of the criminals is of utmost importance.

New Disease Threatens Health of Our Cattle

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Official disclosure that the disease, bovine leptospirosis, has invaded still another state, brought a warning today from the American Foundation for Animal Health that this problem is now becoming one of the serious new threats to cattle health in this country.

Foundation authorities cited these points for farmers to remember, in guarding against the disease:

"Leptospirosis is caused by a spiral-shaped germ that gets into the blood stream of cattle through the skin, or through the digestive, respiratory and reproductive tracts. It is spread by contact with infected animals, also by rats.

"Symptoms in some cases may include sudden illness, loss of appetite, fever, depression and abortion. In other cases, however, the only warning may be a thickening and yellowness of the milk, and a drop in milk production.

"As many as 30 percent of the pregnant cows may lose their calves. Death losses average about five percent, although 70 percent of the herd may become infected," the Foundation said.

"Cattle that recover can remain carriers for months, and spread the disease to other animals.

'Red Tide' Presents Scientists Problems

LA JOLLA, Calif.—Oceanographers at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography, who have traveled as far afield as the Marshall Islands to study oceanographic phenomena, recently were offered an opportunity to study an unusual oceanographic occurence that took place almost at their front door.

The occasion was a visitation of the "red tide," a reddish-brown discoloration of the sea water that is caused by the sudden and luxuriant flowering of millions of microscopic, free-floating plants in the surface layers of the ocean.

The red water is sometimes toxic to fish. In the Gulf of Mexico, beaches are sometimes littered by millions of dead and dying fish poisoned by the red tide. Such occurrences are rare in California.

In order to exploit the occasion to full scientific advantage, the Scripps group made an aerial survey from Santa Monica to San Diego, and scheduled a special cruise of the schooner E. W. Scripps along the coast. Water samples were taken near the end of the Scripps pier, which was the point of strongest concentration along the coast.

Scientists are as yet unable to put their finger on the precise chain of events that leads to the sudden flowering of these plants.

Finns Take Delight In Soaking Selves In Hot Steam Baths

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Finland, host this summer to the fourteenth modern Olympic Games, is a small country of lakes, forests and snows whose gallant people adhere as firmly as any on earth to the ancient Greek belief in equal development of mind and body.

Finland has produced impartially the composer Jean Sibelius, the distance runner Paavo Nurmi, the architect Alvar Aalto and the javelin thrower Yrjo Nikkanen. To their famed institution of the sauna, or steam bath, the Finns themselves attribute much of their ability to produce such talented and hardy citizens.

In the sauna, the bather parboils himself in scalding steam, is soundly switched all over with birth branches, and finally cools out with either sudden immersion in icy water or a dive into a snowdrift outside the bath house.

Many of those who have taken these ritualistic baths claim that the resultant feeling of physical, mental and spiritual well-being is beyond comparison with other human experience. Others feel it may at least help explain how the Finns, who are in part a Mongolian people, remain sufficiently rugged to survive and prosper in a bleak country poor in natural resources and ravaged time after time by war.

The Arctic Circle crosses Finland—Suomi, in the Finnish language. Slightly larger than New Mexico, the land lies in northern Europe between Sweden and Russia. Lacking fertile soil and minerals, Finland counts only timber, water power and the character of her citizens as her major resources.

Historically, Finland as a country never enjoyed independence until 1918, when she broke away from Soviet Russia. The Communist regime inherited her from the Czars, who had controlled Finland since 1809. Before the 12th century, Finns governed themselves.

Then Sweden conquered the land, which thereafter became a battle-ground in struggles between the Swedes and the Russians. In World War II, despite heroic resistance, Finland was twice overrun by the Soviets. Between defeats, she was ravaged by the Nazis, with whom she had perforce allied herself.

Despite the alliance, Finns are still regarded by Americans as a valiant people who refused to declare war upon the United States and who proudly and promptly pay their national debts.

This year was the first that Finland has been Olympics host, although the "flying Finns" began making their amazing distance running records in the Games held just after World War I. She was to have had the 1940 contests, but they were canceled because of the war.

Fisherman Gets Catch Worth Hundred Grand

FORT WORTH—Fred Lumely went fishing recently for the first time in five years and came up with a catch of stolen papers worth more than $100,000 to a west-Texas rancher.

Lumely fished a 25-pound mesh sack filled with several hundred documents from the Trinity River near here.

The documents included $400 in Savings Bonds and about $100,000 in notes and warranty deeds stolen June 28 when thieves carted off a 300-pound safe from the ranch home of Henry Compton, near Breckenridge.

Color Blind Persons Often Deny They Are

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Don't be too sure that your color perception is normal unless it has been adequately tested, counsels the Better Vision Institute. Most color-blind people vehemently deny it when they are told of their shortcoming.

This is probably explained by two facts: (1) If you have never experienced normal color vision, you don't know what you're missing; and (2) You learn that grass is green, for example, and come to know the color of grass as green, even though you do not see it in the same way that normal people do.

Science has not completely solved the riddle of color vision, but it has discovered a good deal on the subject. Extremely few people are afflicted with total color blindness, so that they see only black, white and various intensities of gray.

The most common form of color blindness is dichromatism, or the inability to distinguish more than two types of hues—yellows and blues. Most dichromats see red, yellow, and green as different saturations of yellow, and are apt to confuse certain shades of these colors with one another.

They also confuse bluish greens, blues, and violets, and have trouble distinguishing a particular shade of blue-green from gray.

Bats Said to Function Like Your Automobile

Certain bats function like a car in some respects. They have to "warm up their motors" to operate efficiently. To keep from overheating they employ a mechanism very similar to a car radiator.

So says Dr. Raymond B. Cowles, professor of zoology on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. This was noted during a study of bats from the mountains of Riverside county, California.

Bats are sensitive to cold, becoming lethargic at temperatures well above freezing, he says. By shivering, idling their motors so to speak, they are able to raise body temperature to a level sufficient for locomotion.

In hot weather bats produce a great excess of heat while flying. Death would result if it weren't for a cooling device.

This device is a radiator-like mechanism in the wings. Blood from other parts of the body is shunted into the vast network of small blood vessels in the wings. This allows a great amount of heat to be conducted from wing membrane to the surrounding air in a short time. Thus the blood is effectively cooled and circulated back through the body.

The observations also indicated a reason why bats avoid daytime activity. In the heat of the sun the cooling system wouldn't function properly.

Fluorescence Is Man's Invisible Chore Boy

Fluorescence, with which everybody is familiar through the modern fluorescent lamp, was discovered just about a hundred years ago by Sir G. G. Stokes. A fluorescent material is one that has the power of absorbing invisible, ultra-violet rays and re-emitting visible light. Stokes observed that some substances glowed when held in the darkness near the violet rays of the visible spectrum. Thus he confirmed the existence of an invisible spectrum of "black light," first suspected by the German physicist Ritter in 1801.

The fact that certain substances give off light under the ultra-violet radiations has been used in countless ways. An invisible laundry mark on the clothing of a murdered man glowed visibly when put under black light and led to the capture of the killer. Fluorescent tests are used for detecting forgeries. Ultra-violet light is put to work testing eggs. The fresh ones give off a rose colored fluorescence, while the not-so-fresh glow in blue or violet.

A jar of jam, subjected to ultra-violet rays, will betray by its glow any turnip pulp, molasses, or glucose that may be contained in it.

Bakers and confectioners can give their flour and sugar the "ultra" treatment to detect impurities. Worms in nuts reveal their presence under the beam of black light.

Comfort in Dallas

Summer heat may soon be no more of a bugaboo for the home owner than winter cold is now. Well heated homes in winter have long been taken for granted, but the American public has stifled in summer because of the fear that air conditioning is too expensive for residential use. However, two six-room, completely air-conditioned homes, selling for $12,500, go a long way towards dispelling this fear. They are the first houses completed in a 210-unit Dallas, Texas, development, a large-scale, low-cost housing project boasting complete year-round air conditioning. Each of the homes in this project will be equipped with an air conditioner and a warm-air furnace, tied together with a common duct system.

False Lung

A difficult problem in chest surgery is preventing overexpansion or shifting of the remaining lung when a lung is removed on account of tuberculosis or cancer. Mayo Clinic physicians have been testing on dogs a new spare part which they hope will keep the remaining lung in place—a false lung to fill the space left by the missing lung. The false lung, which is made of a clear plastic, has been well tolerated by animals.

Barn Ventilator

Coit B. Lytton of Gastonia, N.C., has received Patent No. 2,551,215 for his invention of a heating-and-ventilating apparatus for tobacco barns. Air thrown off from the heater is mixed with air circulated in the barn, resulting in a more even temperature. Coit's patent also covers means for increasing the amount of draft and circulation of the heated air within the barn.

Arvad Mariners

In some of the most dramatic writing ever dedicated to geography, commerce, and trade, the prophet Ezekiel (Chapter 27) referred to the mariners of Arvad, a small island off Tartus. When besieged, the Arvadians quenched their thirst from sweet water springs in the floor of the salty sea.

Wide Use of New Technique

Roof bolting, by which overhead layers of rock are actually bound together and made self-supporting, thus eliminating the traditional posts and timbers, was introduced into the coal industry in 1947 and is now used in 450 U.S. mines.

SMU Conference at Dallas Attended by Methodist Students

Fourteen persons from Canyon and West Texas State College attended the annual Thanksgiving Conference of the Texas Methodist Student Movement at Southern Methodist University, November 28-30.

The theme of the conference, "To Magnify Thy Power," provided the subject matter of platform speakers, seminar groups, and informal discussions.

Dr. George D. Kelsey and Dr. W. McFerrin Stowe were the conference platform speakers. Dr. Kelsey, a native of Georgia, is an outstanding scholar and is now a member of the faculty of Drew Theological Seminary in Madison, New Jersey.

Dr. Kelsey was the keynote speaker dealing with the problems of using Christian power in matters of ethics and morality. Dr. Stowe, a popular pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church, Oklahoma City, was the devotional speaker.

Twenty-six colleges and universities of the state of Texas were represented by more than 300 delegates. Those attending from Canyon were Hila Bergert, Emma Jane Brown, Gene Gardenhire, Eugene Hill, Byron Gammage, Colline Brown, Al Thornborrow, Lloyd Parsons, Midge Fite, Reece Whittington, and Wanda Gollehon.

These students were accompanied by Joe Ericson, faculty member, and chairman of the campus-church relations committee of the First Methodist Church; Mrs. Geo. C. Hill, secretary of student work of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Amarillo District of the Methodist Church; and Rev. Jim T. Pickens, director of the Methodist Student Center.

LAZINESS

An old New Englander was remarkable well informed, but so very lazy that the new pastor asked him how much he had contrived to learn so much.

He replied, "I just heard it — here and there — and I was too lazy to forget it."

Sailors Prefer Nice Girls, Chaplain Says

MIDDLESBROUGH, Eng.—British sailors prefer good girls to bad—nice girls are peppy, pretty, and gobs of fun, the tars think. That's the claim of the Rev. Cyril Kettle, chaplain of the mission of seamen here.

The Rev. Kettle says sailors are swarming to his mission because he promises to introduce them to some pretty and wholesome girls of the city.

The Rev. Mr. Kettle's project has attracted a great deal of attention. Some reports have suggested that he has organized the proper girls of the town to lure sailors away from the girls, to be found in any port, who aren't so nice.

No sailor may bring a girl to the Middlesbrough mission unless she happens to be his wife. At the mission boy meets girl, but the mission provides the girl.

Many Friendships

Any sailor may find a girl friend here. Many enduring friendships have been formed and, in the Rev. Mr. Kettle's experience, the boy meets girl department of the mission has produced at least one highly successful marriage.

Once introduced at the mission the girls may visit the sailors on their ships in port. Most shipping lines, naturally preferring contented crews, encourage such social contacts if the object is tea and talk. But the skipper of a freighter is not always a shrewd judge of girls. There have been instances, the chaplain said, when the wrong kind of girls got aboard.

What do the mission girls think of their uplift of sailor activities?

What the Girls Think

"It's fun, and one meets such different characters," said blond Mary Whistler, who is the dancing type. "There is nothing wrong with the Middlesbrough boys, but they talk about football and their jobs in the chemical works, which isn't so thrilling. The sailors have had exciting experiences out in the world.

"Are sailors fresh? Not those I've met. They are just boys away from home. Maybe at the mission we remind them of the girls they left at home."

Expanding the mission's influence calls for an alert chaplain who is ready to meet all ships, no matter what the hour.

More Males Die From Cancer Than Females

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Except for early adult life, mortality from cancer among males is higher than among females, statisticians of a life insurance company said recently.

A study of deaths from malignant neoplasms (very largely cancers) among the company's industrial policyholders during 1950-1951 show that only between the ages of 25-44 do more women than men die from cancer. In the 45-54 age group the deaths are about equal, but at all other ages the male deaths are much higher.

Under age 25, the male cancer death rate was 19 percent above the female; in the 55-64 group the rate was 42 percent higher, and in the 65-74 group 48 percent higher.

Only in cancer of the breast and genital organs is the female death rate higher than the male. On the other hand, male mortality from cancer of the respiratory system is 7⅔ times that for females. The male death rate is also considerably higher from cancer of the urinary tract and the digestive organs.

"In the present state of knowledge, it is difficult to account for the sex differences in the mortality from the malignant neoplasms," the statisticians added.

Those Lost in Woods Usually in Beer Hall

AUGUSTA, Me.—More than half of the 140 persons reported lost annually in the Maine woods turn up in a beer parlor. So the first move of Chief Warden Lester E. Brown when someone is reported lost is to check the nearest suds dispensary.

"We've had many a wild goose chase in my time," he says. "A lot of those are because some guy tells his wife he's going hunting when actually he adjourns to the nearest beer parlor."

The 59-year-old former infantry colonel, who has made a lifelong specialty of finding strayed hunters, campers and fishermen, says the majority actually lost "put their lives on the line" because they fail to watch landmarks and fail again to "sit tight."

Mr. Brown said most of those who die in Maine's vast expanse of wilderness become panicky, slam through the dense forest until they are exhausted, then freeze to death.

"Had one guy who was lost for nine days and came out healthy," the forester recalled. "Only reason he lived was because he didn't lose his head—just shot and ate raw partridge and waited. We found him."

Flying Farmers To Visit Tulia For Tour of Inspection

Final plans for the 1953 Tulia Farm Implement Show at the Tulia Airport on December 11 have been completed.

The program is sponsored by the Farm Supply Association of the Tulia Chamber of Commerce.

Demonstrations of farm implements will begin at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of December 11. Eleven Tulia implement dealers will take part in the program.

Coffee and donuts will be served through the entire day.

Flying Farmers from all over the state have been invited to Tulia for a breakfast on the morning of the implement show. Following the breakfast, the host, Swisher County Flying Farmers will give county farmers an aerial tour of their property.

Invitations to the demonstration have been sent to vocational agriculture classes throughout the Panhandle.

Land for demonstration and hanger space has been contributed by W. Kirk Hulsey, owner of Tulia Airport.

Washington Zoo Obtains Rarest Of Rattlesnakes

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A pair of the rarest rattlesnakes on earth have arrived safely at the Washington Zoo.

The collector was Lewis Wayne Walker, a young ex-Marine assisted by the National Geographic Society on a mission that took several years to complete. He suffered a shipwreck, an automobile accident and considerable hardships during the search period.

Last month he packed his snakes, the larger one nearly two feet long, in a strong carton and shipped them to Dr. William M. Mann, director of the Smithsonian Institution's National Zoological Park.

"At Home"

Dr. Mann received them in good condition, jubilantly identified them scientifically as Crotalus Tortugensis, and installed them in his reptile house. Although he is one of the world's foremost authorities on wild creatures, Dr. Mann had never before seen similar rattlers.

The average Zoo visitor is not likely to give the deadly reptiles more than a passing glance, although Dr. Mann reports that herpetologists are showing keen interest in them. An unprepossessing dusty gray in color, they are not very active. The largest has eight buttons in his tiny rattle. The eyes of both are set in peculiar bulging sockets.

The species was first described scientifically in Proceedings of the California Academy of Sciences for December, 1921. Home of these snakes is the waterless, uninhabited Mexican Isla Tortuga 25 miles northeast of Santa Rosalia, halfway down Baja California's east, or gulf, coast.

Thirty Varieties

The Zoo's new snakes are one of nearly 30 varieties of rattlesnakes. All are members of the highly poisonous pit viper family. Ranging from Southern Canada to Uruguay, they are found only in the Americas.

Tubs of Water Grow Trees in Collection

WASHINGTON, D.C.—A large collection of "tank plants," literally tree-growing tubs of water, has been made for the Smithsonian Institution in Brazil by Dr. Lyman Smith, Smithsonian botanist, during a three-and-one-half month collecting expedition.

Dr. Smith's work was sponsored jointly by the Smithsonian, the Rockefeller Foundation, and the Servicio National de Malaria of Brazil. The primary purpose was to identify accurately the species in whose tree-top pools malaria-carrying mosquitoes breed.

The tank plants are members of the pineapple family. They are "epiphytes," which grow in trees but, unlike parasitic growths, get none of their nourishment from their hosts. They cling to the branches by their roots. Some, however, merely wrap leaves around the branch.

Their leaves form shallow basins which collect water, upon which they subsist. Some of these leaves are as much as six feet long. The largest "tub" observed by Dr. Smith contained 5,100 cubic centimeters This would hold nearly a gallon and a half of water. A few do not hold water. The leaves of these have scales which soak up water like a blotter.

The living "water tubs" will grow on nearly any tree with a rough and stable bark, which will give them something to which they can cling. There are approximately 550 species in Brazil alone, Dr. Smith says. Altogether there are about 2,000 species, all but one found in North or South America.

More Auto Dead Seen In Second Half Year

CHICAGO—At the halfway mark in 1952, the National Safety Council had counted 420 more auto dead than in the first six months of 1951.

The Council announced that the six-month toll was 16,820—a 3 per cent increase over the 16,400 fatalities at the end of June last year.

In June alone, however, motor vehicle deaths went down two per cent—3,010 this year as compared with 3,070 last year.

Mileage figures are available for only five months. For that period travel was up seven per cent over last year and deaths were up four per cent for the same five months. Thus there was a decrease in the mileage death rate (deaths per 100,000,000 miles) to 6.7—a new all-time low for this five-month period—as compared with 6.9 at the same point a year ago.

Of 45 states reporting for June, 22 had increases in deaths and a like number had decreases from June of last year. One state reported no change.

For the first half of 1952, only 17 of the 45 states had decreases, while 26 had increases and two had no change.

Oyster 'Farmers' Continue Working In R-Less Months

NEW YORK—Contrary to popular belief, the months without "R" are not a relaxing period for oyster "farmers" It is the time for the most important event in oysterdom, the spawning season when hopes run high for a bumper crop of little oysters.

Today the cultivation of oysters has reached an advanced stage. Even before the birth of the oysters, preparations are made for the arrival of the little bivalves. Huge quantities of old oyster shells are deposited on the underwater spawning grounds. Later when the fertilized oyster eggs incubate on the water's surface and slowly descend, they attach themselves to the clean hard surface of the oyster shells. A tiny outer shell is formed and another succulent bivalve is on the way.

After some weeks of growth in the shallow water of the spawning area, the little oysters are moved to deeper waters. The tide there brings in the greater amount of food necessary for the now adolescent oyster. Still later, the oysters are moved again to waters which can run well over sixty feet.

The work is great but it is not the labor which concerns the "underwater farmer." He is as anxious as an expectant father during this period. All the effort and expense may go to waste if there is no crop of new oysters—and no one but Mother Nature knows what will result. Even with a good "set", as the new crop is called, the oyster farmer must take care of it for as long as five years before it is sent to market. That means he must protect the oysters from natural enemies during all those years and make sure they are in the best possible place for growth. As the oysters are underwater during these years and spread over vast areas, it is a tremendous task involving many men, boats, equipment and a big land plant.

Meanwhile the oyster boats are overhauled from bow to stern and everything made spic and span for the next oyster season. And that goes for the oyster plant where the bivalves are packed for market to provide millions of fine food enthusiasts all over the country with the palate-pleasing oyster taste they enjoy.

There is plenty to do in the "R-less" months for the oyster man—but he has a compensation special to him. He can eat his oysters whatever the month may be.

Living Cost Outruns Medical Care Expense

CHICAGO—Medical care costs are lagging well behind the rapid climb of the cost of living, according to a study made by the American Medical Association's Bureau of Medical Economic Research.

The finding, based on statistics presented by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, showed that in 1951 the price index on all items in the consumers' budget rose almost twice as many points as the price of medical care.

The cost of living index in 1951 for moderate-income families in large cities was 185.6 (1935-1939 is considered a base level period equal to 100), according to Frank G. Dickinson, Ph. D., Chicago director of the bureau.

On the other hand, the medical care and drug index during 1951 was 155.0, as against 147.9 the year prior—an increase of 7.1 points.

"The consumers' price index (cost of living) has risen 86 per cent since the base period, while the price index of medical care has risen only 55 per cent," Dr. Dickinson stated.

Physicians' fees also have been climbing much slower than the cost of living, he added. The fee index last year was 145.2, representing an increase of 45 per cent over the base period, compared with the 86 per cent rise in living costs. In 1950, the fee index was 140.0.

Airplane May Catch Own Sound in Jet Age

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. — A high-speed jet may get ahead of its own sound. Sound travels about 750 miles per hour, so if a plane were traveling at 1000 miles per hour it would go rapidly ahead of its own sound.

If such a plane were diving toward you, it would hit you before you heard it coming. If it veered off just before it reached you, you would first hear the sound from the point of closest approach, and it would be very loud. Then you would hear the sounds from the parts of its path farther back, as well as those ahead, and they would gradually get fainter.

This would be something like the sound of an explosion, sudden and loud at first, and gradually dying out. If the plane came toward you at exactly sonic speed, the sound waves emanating from all parts of the path of approach would reach you at once, in a very brief, sharp report.

Postman Hoards Undelivered Mail In His Basement

DETROIT—A four-years' accumulation of stolen and undelivered letters and parcel post packages were discovered recently cached away in the basement of a veteran mail carrier's home. His wife, who went to the basement regularly, denied any knowledge of the "misplaced" mail.

The carrier, Roman J. Kortes, 50, explained that he took the loot "because I just couldn't help it." He has been with the post office 28 years.

He pleaded guilty when arraigned before Federal Judge Theodore Levin on a two count indictment charging him with embezzlement from the mails. He was released on $1,000 personal bond.

Convictions can mean a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $4,000 fine for the carrier.

Two large post office trucks were sent to Kortes' home to remove the mail and packages. Merchandise was stacked from floor to ceiling in the basement.

Postal inspectors said at least 10,000 letters, most of them unopened, were found in boxes.

The mail overflowed the basement into Kortes' garage.

Postal Inspector Earl W. Wheeler and Charles Viculis, a foreman, nabbed Kortes as he walked to his car carrying two packages from the morning mail, concealed in a cardboard box.

Wheeler said Kortes stole parcels directly from his Gratiot substation as well as from his route. After a day's work he would carry out several "empty" boxes, Wheeler said, but only the top box would be actually empty.

Kortes said he sought valuables and money and added he spent enjoyable hours reading personal letters from time to time.

Another Shaw Joke Arises From Grave

LONDON — George Bernard Shaw's witty repartees still are being cataloged by his admirers.

It is said that one day, when Orson Welles visited the skeleton-like playwright, the conversation turned to the subject of Britain's economic plight.

"Looking at you, master," Welles is reported to have told Shaw, "one realizes the dreadful privations undergone by the British."

"And, looking at you," G.B.S. snapped back at the round cheeked, rotund younger man, "one gathers who's responsible."

Stabilizer Advises Boycott of Foods

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The way to bring down the record high prices for food, Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam suggests, is for housewives to boycott the scarce items.

He says: "I think if the housewives—I call them the food purchasing agents of America—would refrain from buying these things that are scarce and at a particularly high price that would have more effect on prices than any other one thing.

"You can call it boycott if you want. But when things get too high, just don't buy them. That is the best way to bring them down."

Mr. Putnam is especially critical of Congress for outlawing controls on all fruits and vegetables. He predicted that this will result in even higher food prices."

He deplores removal of credit controls, saying this had brought sky-rocketing spending "which is also helping to keep prices up as part of the inflation problem."

Hard Times Finished For England's Cats

LONDON—A cat lover who never owned a cat left England's cats one-thousand pounds recently. That was the sum provided in the estate of Harry Batsford, publisher who died recently at the age of 71.

Executors of the L15,000 estate were troubled as to just how to spend the money, but they had some guidance in Mr. Batford's will.

He suggested there ought to be propaganda to "combat the pernicious idea that cats can feed themselves, that they must live on what they catch, i.e., that they hunt and mouse better if they are half starved."

"Their grateful and friendly affection has been one of my chief solaces," Mr. Batsford said in his will.

He Gives Neighbors View of the Stars

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—The most popular man in his neighborhood is Stanley McLaughlin. On clear nights throngs of his neighbors overrun his back yard. He is the owner of a 12-foot reflecting telescope. His friends have been dropping in to take a visual survey of the heavens.

He spent more than 200 hours polishing and grinding the eight-inch mirror to perfection.

A GOOD IDEA

Rocket planes which can go 5,000 miles an hour are talked about; we are making up a list of friends whom we should like to see travel that way.

THE ULTIMEAT TEST

So far as we're concerned, the candidate needn't submit a formal personal statement. All we ask is that he tell us how often he eats beefsteak.

A LITTLE LATE

OVER 65 GROUP UP

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that by 1975, persons over 65 years old are expected to number 21,000,000 — a 69 per cent increase over 1950.

THIS CIVILIZED NATION

Here and there is a person who isn't superstitious. For example, the other day a Cleveland man broke a mirror over his wife's head.

Woman is more efficient. She can talk for forty minutes without a pitcher of water on a stand nearby.

J. Edgar Hoover, director, Federal Bureau of Investigation: "Communism in the United States can be defeated only by the truth and not by vigilante attacks, irrational tirades and forceful suppression."

Mrs. Emory Ross, church woman, former missionary to the Congo: "One-quarter of the human race has received independence since 1945. Two hundred million are still non-self-governing."

Geary Eppley, Dean, University of Maryland: "Students or alumni groups who bet on games are contributing to gambling evils. If they believe in good, healthful sports, they should avoid all gambling."

Spanish sources declare that agreement had been reached with the United States for three major and several minor United States air bases in Spain.

HEARD BUT NOT SEEN

Aunt Nellie — Well, Bobby, did you see Santa Claus on Christmas?

Bobby — No, Auntie. It was too dark to see him, but I heard what he said when he knocked his toe against the bedpost.

How to Pour Molasses Out of a Cup

The first woman who greased the cup before measuring molasses deserves a small but appropriate medal for ingenuity. Likewise, the first man who thought to tape an emergency key under his car hood. Or whoever first sprinkled salt on an icy sidewalk. Or whoever first tried warming a knife before cutting fruitcake.

In case you think all pesky problems center around the home, try soldering the connections on a radio. Or assembling the bits and pieces of an automatic toaster.

If you did it for a living, you'd be on the lookout for better ways of working. That's for sure. In our family, a General Electric man or woman who finds an easier way to work a tool, to tighten a belt, or pack a parcel may win the price of a new hat, or a suit, or maybe even win the price of a new car.

Our sugar bowl marked "Cash for Suggestions" has been hit for over $4,000,000 by employees in past years. Last year, over 25,000 suggestions were accepted and rewarded. This has been going on since way back in 1922.

As we write this, a machinist in our Schenectady plant has just made himself a tidy $5,000. His suggestion led to an improvement in the bearing that supports a giant generator. By the way, we asked him how he planned to spend the money. Turns out to be a down payment on a brand-new home.

You get something extra out of this, too. You want products that give a pedigreed performance, do more, behave better. Thousands of thoughtful people backstage add their bit to our production efficiency. And only an efficient company can hope to deliver something extra in the package.
